Yearbooks always capture a school year with pictures. This year we have tried, for the first time, to capture the dialect of our Southern Indiana students. Our language is unique. It is not Boston language; it is not Texas language; it is not Wisconsin language. It is totally Southern Indiana. At times, Hoosiers in Southern Indiana tend to change the word "you" to "ya" or "cha". It is a combination - shortened word, slur, drawl, and improvisation. It is one of things we noticed that seems to be exclusive to Southern Indiana. Thus, we chose "GOTCHA" for our theme. We captured the school in pictures; we also captured it in speech. We have tried to carry our theme throughout the book with section titles including "Foughtcha," "Watcha," "Taughtcha," and "Broughtcha." They are fun to say, and we hope you enjoy the pictures and language of our 1988 Bartizan.

Gotcha at Two

Dear Mom and Dad,

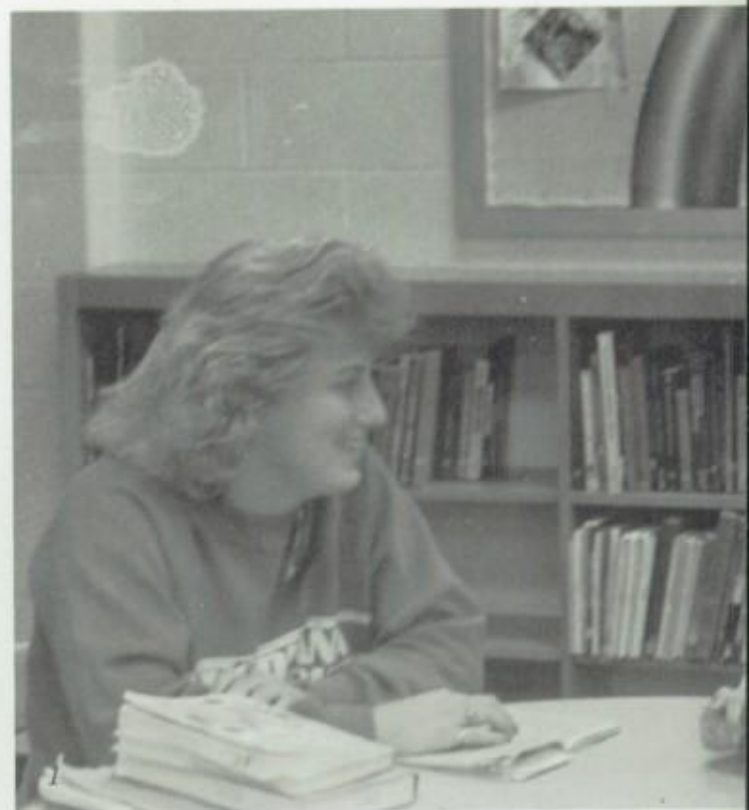

As we've progressed through 12 years of school, much recognition has been brought to our graduating class. We are very proud of the awards we have received in academics, athletics, and fine arts, none of which would have been possible without you.

Starting at a very early age, we accomplished much. We learned to wrap packages. We learned to swim. We made friends. And we learned to celebrate. With your help we learned the basic necessities of life. And so, Mom and Dad, we thank you, with this page, for all that you have done to make us what we are today.

- 1) What girlish dreams lie behind Joelle Dooley's big, brown eyes?
- 2) Mark Adams inspects his first Christmas tree and gives his approval.
- 3) Heidi Kobelt can't wait to go play after a boring photo session.
- 4) Responding to her parents' plea, Jackie Becker reluctantly smiles.
- 5) Early friendships like Stacie Dean and Dawn Lamb last forever.
- 6) Even at 16 months, Susan Vetter displays great care for her doll.

Friends

1. Stacey Spenser and Kelly Libs spend time in the library to share thoughts and friendship.
2. Dave Todino and Jennifer Davis take time out from their activities to display friendship to each other.
3. Scott McKenney and Debbie Wiseman have a special friendship that only seniors can have.
4. Robin Gnerlich, Sara Mosier, Amy Schmidt and Becky Swanson. These friends show the finished product of their Romeo & Juliet's wedding cake.
5. Rick Bader, Chris Nolot, and Joe Young See no evil; Hear no evil; and Speak no evil; against your friends and keep your friends.

There is a major part in the life of Floyd Central. That is Friends! Special relationships are made in the short four years we are here. These last a lifetime. One can look back at all the wonderful experiences and the good times that were spent at F.C. and with special friends.

Friends

1. Jill Wallace, Susan Bierman, Tricia Groves, and Jeanna Sackcheck use their lunch time as a time of having a good talk and having a good time.
2. Kim Fricke, Charlotte Hendricks, Tricia Rice - on the benches and with your friends is the way to enjoy lunch.
3. Bill Hoban, Laura Pamplin, Joelle Dooley. A special friendship is shared in music because of the time spent with each other.
4. Leslie Wood tries to make a friend in Spanish.
5. Jennifer Forrest, Angie Jones, and Liz Jones. The Harvest Homecoming that takes place in the fall is meant to show thanks for a bountiful year. Friends should be at the top of the list.

Row 1: Kelly Vincent, Lynn Smith, Lisa Smith, Dave Todino. Row 2: Shelly Vincent, John Proctor, Brian McBride, Angela McBride, Danny Phillips, Debbie Phillips. Not shown: Jackie Proctor and Dan Todino.

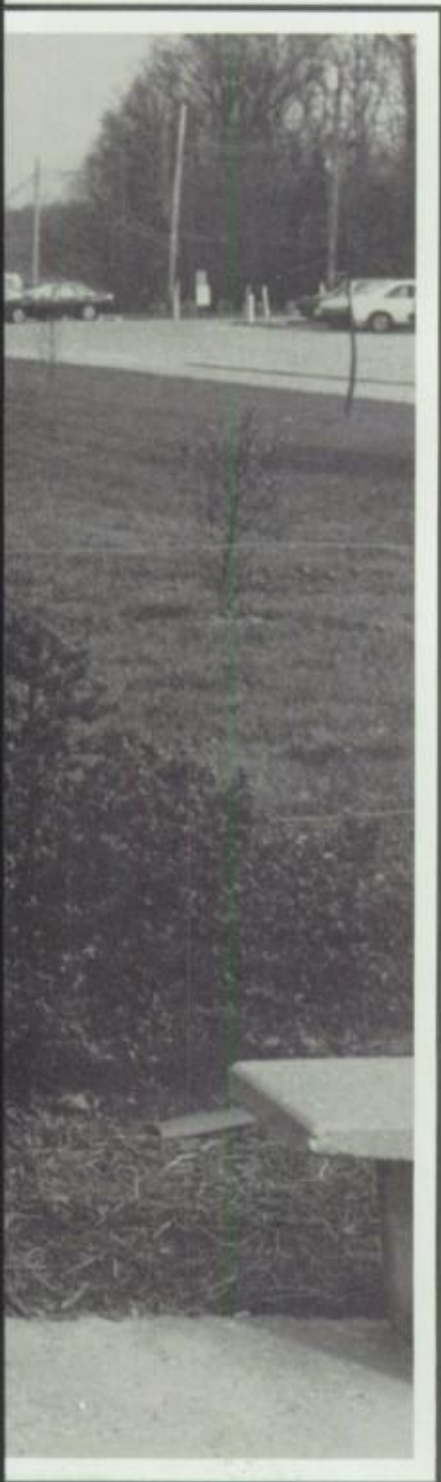

I'd read that one twin could tell when the other was happy or sad, lonely or hurt. It fascinated me, so I decided to find out whether or not it was true, and since we had an exceptional number of twins, we decided it would make an interesting layout. I found out one shouldn't believe everything he reads! None of the twins I talked to could tell any shared emotional feelings. They said although they're close, they are not mind readers!

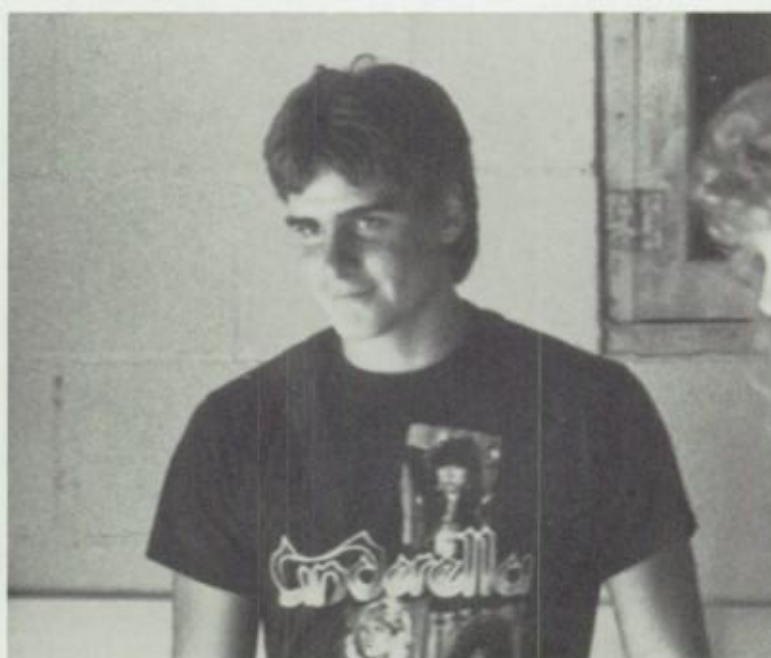

Lisa says she and Lynn would trick their dance teacher when they were younger.

Lynn, who is older by 10 minutes, enjoys playing softball and is on our varsity team.

The Same - But Different

Debbie says there is a lot of competition between her and Danny to be the best, but they try not to let it bother them.

Danny, who is older by 6 minutes, enjoys band and theater. Danny had one of the leads in the fall musical, 42nd Street.

Dan, who is older by 20 minutes, is on the track team, powerlifting, and the football team. He's found teamwork doesn't always have to be with your brother.

Dave says he and Dan like the same things, but they have different personalities. They both feel having a twin is just like having another brother the same age.

Pets Keep People Happy!

We have all heard the expression, "A man's best friend is his dog." In addition to this theory, we found that a best friend can be a horse, a snake, a cow, or a chinchilla. Owning a pet involves much responsibility and caring. However, with the right treatment and affection, a simple pet will often become more, a friend. Some pets have interesting talents, opening doors or rattling food dishes. Other pets are interesting simply because of what they are. Chinchillas, snakes, or humans make nice pets. Whatever the characteristics are that make the pet unusual, it can definitely be said that the animal is a friend. In our layout, we try to show that it is a two sided coin; people make pets happy and pets make people happy.

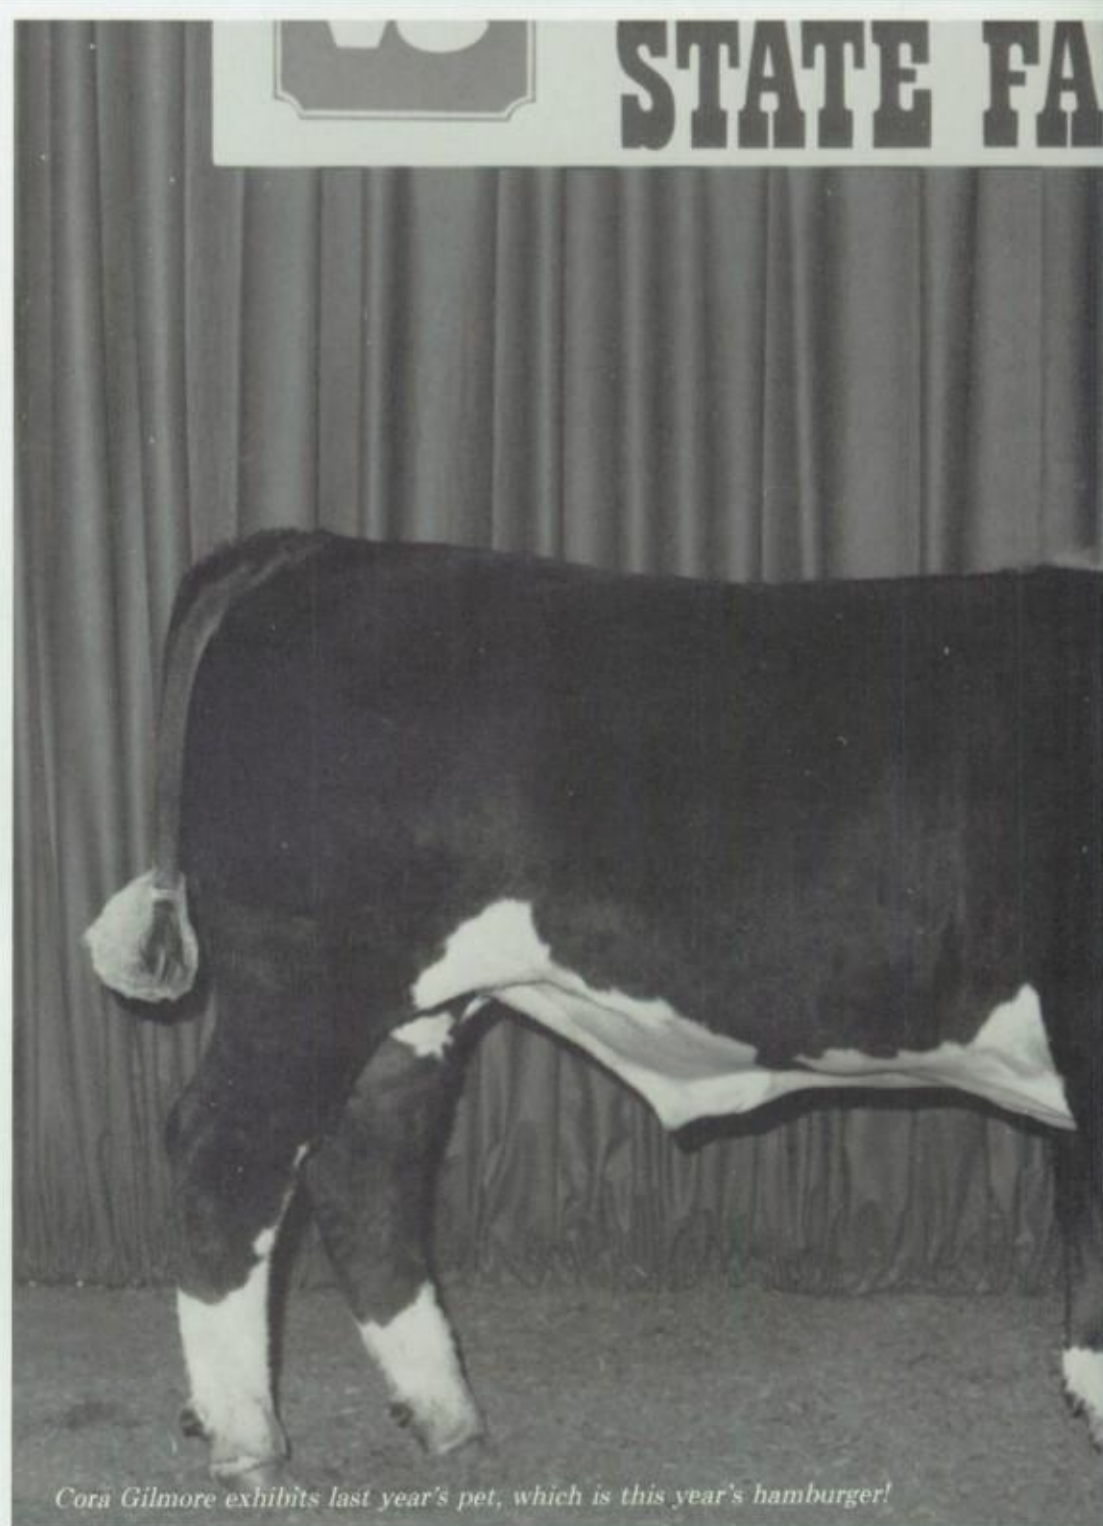

Cathy Reisert poses with her pet chinchilla. Obviously the latest rage in pets, chinchillas are as cute in spirit as in looks.

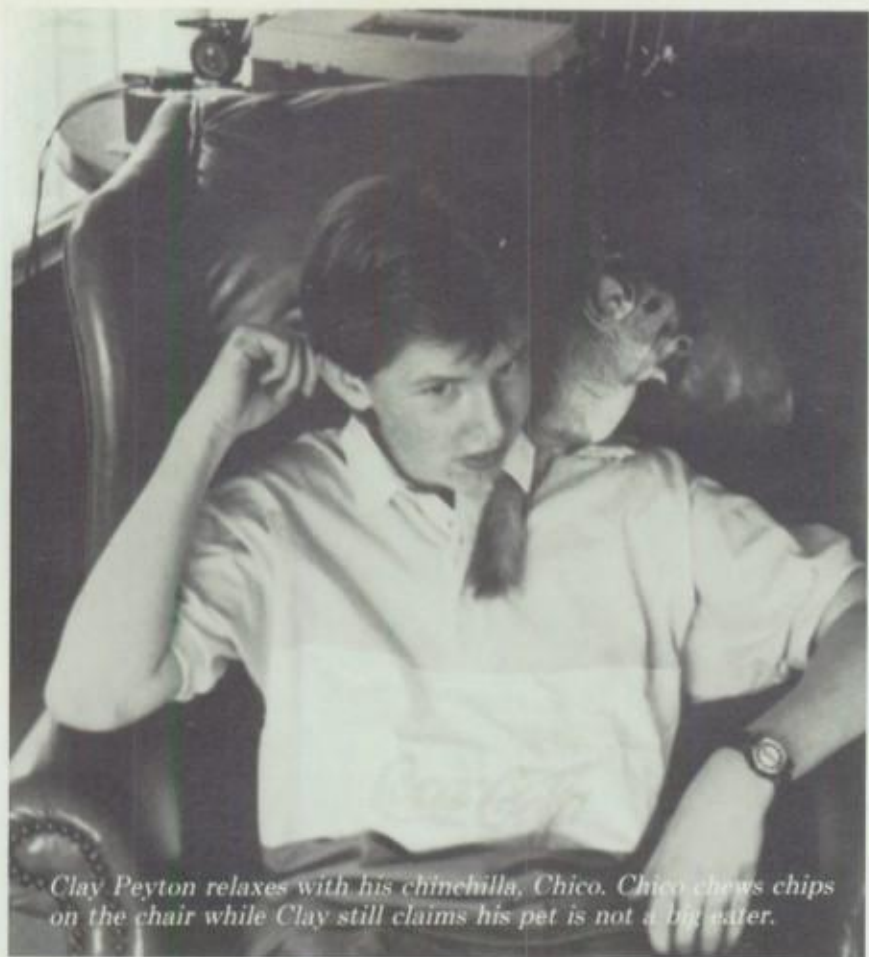

The Lone Bill Hoban and his Trigger Type horse, Suzie, take time out for the photographers.

12/Pets - Erin Lomond

Corā Gilmore exhibits last year's pet, which is this year's hamburger!

Clay Peyton relaxes with his chinchilla, Chico. Chico chews chips on the chair while Clay still claims his pet is not a big eater.

People Keep Pets Happy!

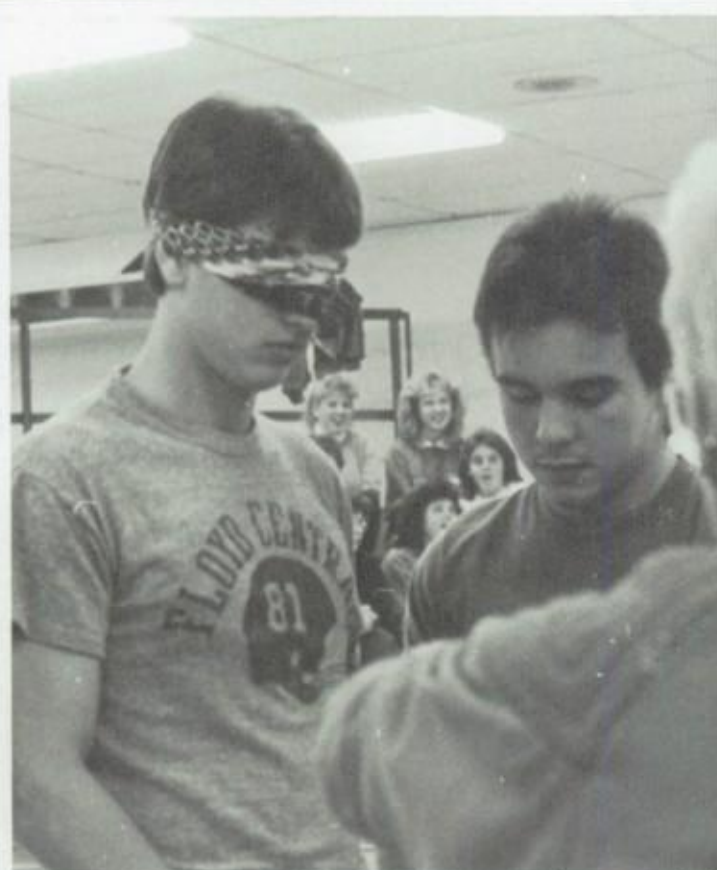

Here Joe stands, snake in hand, eyeing his slithery way. The boa constrictor has been the Straley brothers' pet for some time now, and he is admired by many as an unusual pet.

Tania Bates shows the love and affection necessary to keep her favorite pet, Critter, content.

Mr. Sendelweck gets a pie in the face from senior Kevin Cox. It was Kevin's last chance to "work with" his ex-chemistry teacher.

Jim Jablonski and Noah Sodrel team up in the cotton ball competition to boost the football team closer to a victory.

Team work between flag corp members Natalie Lueke and Heidi Gibson helped them finish strong in the games.

Lori Waltrip dazzles the spectators in an unusual stunt comparable to the "Double Dare" stunts.

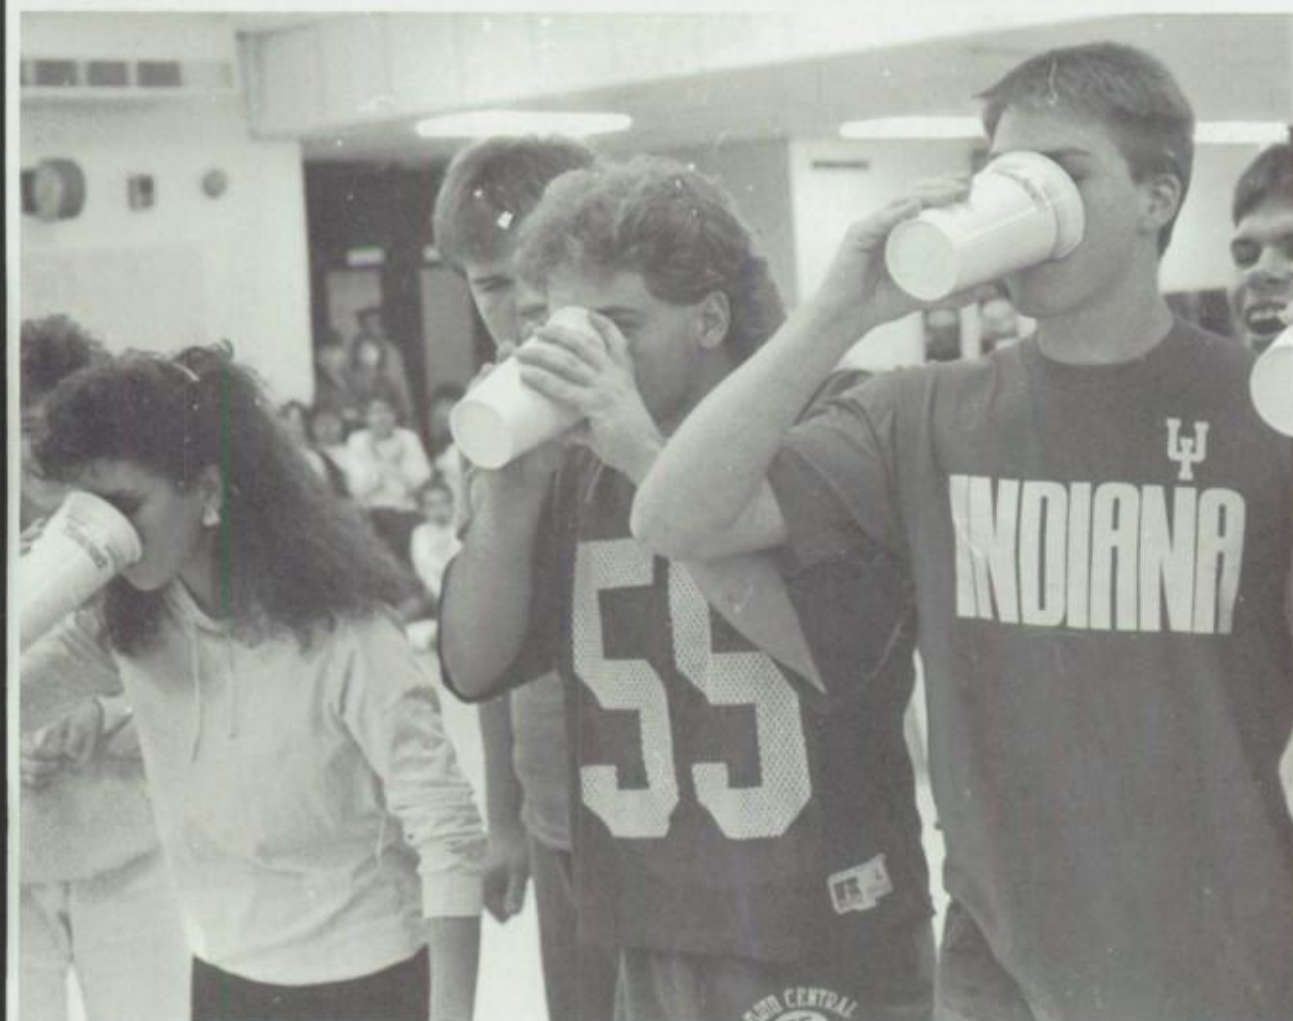

14/Greek Games - Marsha Snawder

Football players Dan Todino and Tim Michl gave it a good try, but they finished last in this competition.

F.C. Students Dare To Try New Games

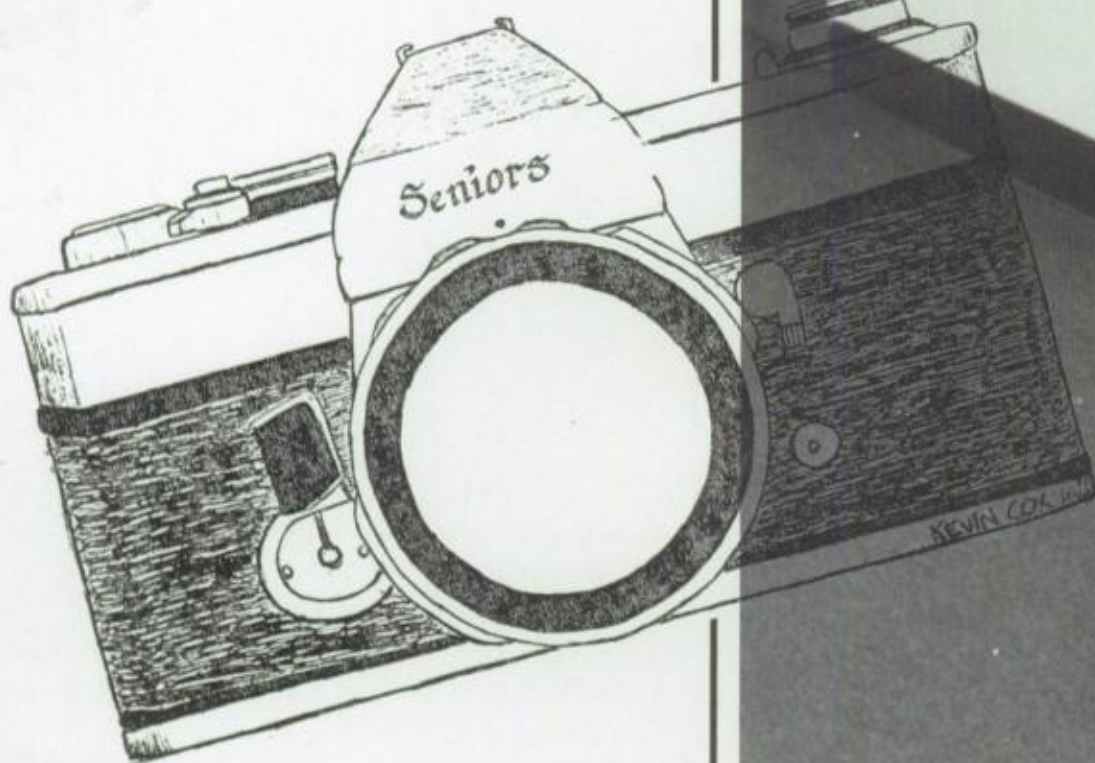

The 1988 Greek Games brought new competition to the Floyd Central cafeteria. Students who were friends during the day became bitter rivals at the games. The football team, the dazzlers, the band, the cheerleaders, the flag corp, and the radio department all gave it a good try, but the cheerleaders won with 112 points, and the radio department came in a close second with 109 points. The radio department organized and sponsored the Greek Games this year and did a great job. They organized events such as the Twister contest, a burping contest, a "kissing" booth, and a pie throwing booth. The competition was stiff and sometimes a little messy, but everyone seemed to have a good time. This was the first year the Greek Games were held, and it was a success in many ways, and we hope it will be back next year.

The drinking/burping competition between fellow students created some successes and some failures.

Accepting the challenge of Twister, the dazzlers and the football team tie themselves up in knots.

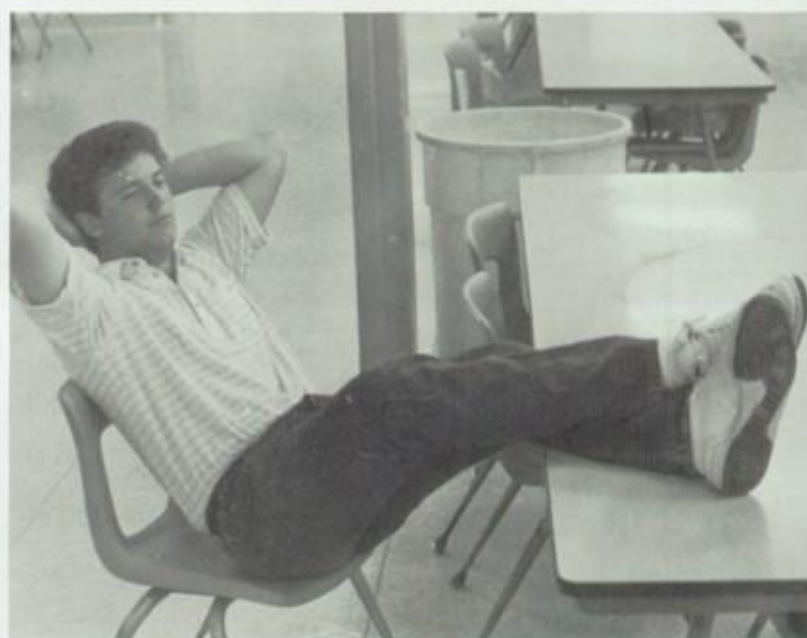

Senior year! It is a year in which seniors develop much confidence. It is a year full of changes, choices, and new beginnings. Questions and answers fill the minds of seniors. It is the year which is filled with as much "hall time" as possible; a time when one's feet tend to go up and the body is often found balanced on two chair legs instead of four. It is a time when the expression found on the face of a senior often shows confidence and ease. But senior year is now a memory. Senior year!

Stacy Lange gives the "thumbs up" sign, expressing her confidence with the senior year.

Seniors were well represented this year by their class officers: Teresa Aemmer, Cindi Meyer, Dena Baylor, Tracie Cornwell.

WATCHA

Many students want a chance to perform on stage. We will see them in our "Watcha" section which will include the theater, choir, orchestra, Dazzlers, and cheerleaders. Our fine arts program improves every year. This year we'll watch as the theater takes 42nd Street to Internationals in Muncie, our band went to state contest to finish 6th in the state, two of our cheerleaders were chosen by the NCAA to be instructors, and the Dazzlers "wowed" them in Dallas, Texas.

We watched our students grow and travel the country. You enjoyed watching these people in live performances - we hope you will enjoy them again in our pictures.

The yearbook staff with their cameras watch everyone.

- 1 Patty Terrell will be a leader on next year's Bartizan staff. Her enthusiasm and experience will be valuable.
- 2 Marsha Snawder became an excellent writer of cutlines. Marsha will write again in next year's book.
- 3 Amy Somerville added journalism to her interests and talents. Amy now can write copy, take pictures and play the cello.
- 4 The dependability of Debbie Wiseman will be shared by many people who know her in the future. Debbie volunteered again and again. She plans to work on the I.U. yearbook next year.
- 5 Michelle Conrad exemplifies the class of workers in yearbook — although we don't always wear suits to work.

Mark Adams brought his camera and potential to yearbook. Today, he is an excellent photographer and writer. Mark and Erin came as a team.

Todd Ivy was the only returning yearbook staff member. His independent work served as an example for the others. Todd and Suzanne went to the prom.

KUDOS to the yearbook staff.

Hard work brings good results to a yearbook. A theme and follow-through are the results that sometime go unnoticed. This year's staff enjoyed a few Friday parties before the work really became necessary. That work lasted though until after school was out. Erin Lomond and Stephanie Anders worked on sunbathing days. This staff has some excellent ideas, pictures and copy. We hope you enjoy our work now and in 20 years.

- 1 This is the formal Stephanie Anders. Stephanie demanded excellence in her layouts and copy. The demand lasted into the first week of June. The track layout will be ready soon.
- 2 Erin Lomond brought a great sense of humor and her robe; she also provided leadership. She plans to use the yearbook work as a springboard to television.
- 3 Yearbook members work hand in hand with broken typewriters, broken cameras, and broken phones. Barbara Huff hopes the keyboard will be ready.

Stacy Hall started the staff with photography work that set standards. Hopefully she will set those standards again next year.

Jill King worked on the theme and introduction. We hope you enjoy the first yearbook to capture the language of school.

Paula Merrill becomes the center of attention.

Danny Phillips portrays a charming character. Persuading and captivating young ladies is a common scene for him.

Tapping shoes, tuxedos, and talent dazzle the eyes of the audience. Four months of work shop reaped great reward.

42nd Street

Country Charm Creates Broadway Hit

This year's theatre group proudly presents 42nd Street, "a Broadway song and dance extravaganza!" The musical tells the story of Peggy Sawyer, a hometown girl from Allentown, Pennsylvania, who comes to New York in search of stardom. She finds her place in Pretty Lady, produced and directed by Julian March. 42nd Street is by far the most spectacular performance by Floyd Central theatre. Costing approximately forty thousand dollars, the show bursts with glamour and glitter that send sensations through anyone involved. 42nd Street will be taken to international competition at Ball State University this coming summer.

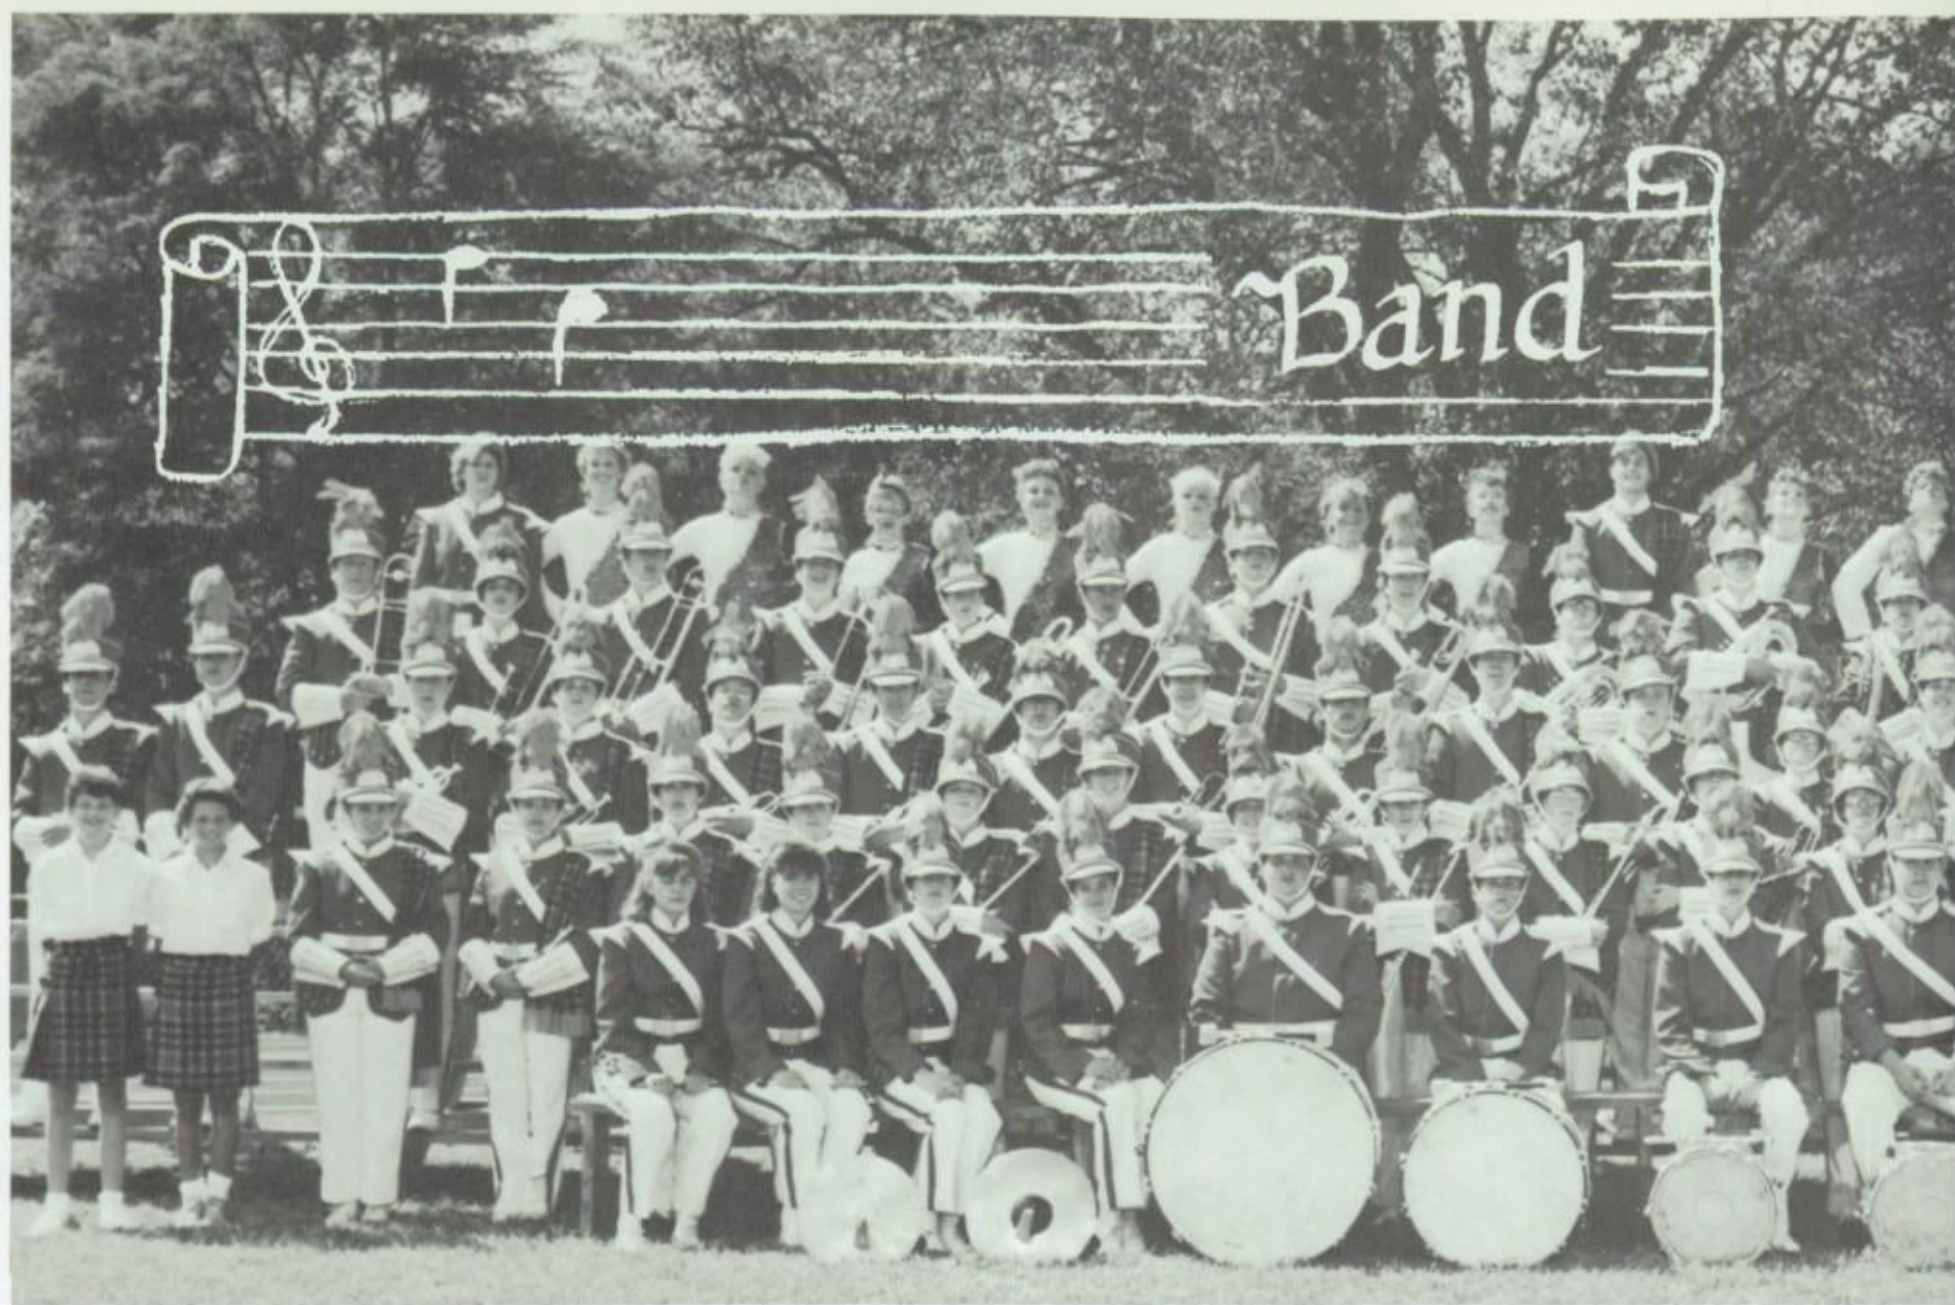

Here the cast pleads for Paula to star in Pretty Lady.

Spot lights waltz in and out to create unique effects as Caren Schwinghammer "shadow dances" with help from Danny and Robert.

A match made in heaven, or on 42nd Street? Emily Carter and Bill Hoban "shuffle off to Buffalo" to decide on a honeymoon train ride.

The tension builds as the Band warms up for Marching Band State Finals in the Hoosier Dome.

Danny Phillips, one of this year's Field Commanders, helps the Band make a marvelous ending to "Sunrise Lady".

Competition Keeps The Band Sharp

Debbie Wiseman, Jason Reineke, Erin Lomond, Ronnie Cates, Scott Zeller, Dena Alton, Debbie Phillips, Steve Rahe. RV - Jenny Atkins, Natalie Lueke, Heidi Gibson, Tammy Short, Chasity Hentrup, Pam Stumbler, Allison James, Paula Merrill, Rick Bader, Shawna Meeks, Heather Stuart, Krista Merrill, Lisa Rowe, Sarah Sendelweck, Sherry Scare, Angie Loyd, Marty Willis.

This year's band had many competitions in which they were very successful. After uncountable hours of practice, hard work, and contests this band was sharp. It was the first F.C. band ever to compete in Marching Band State finals. Their sharp, new uniforms contributed to this accomplishment. The band placed tenth in the state. The flag girls also added number and depth to this year's band.

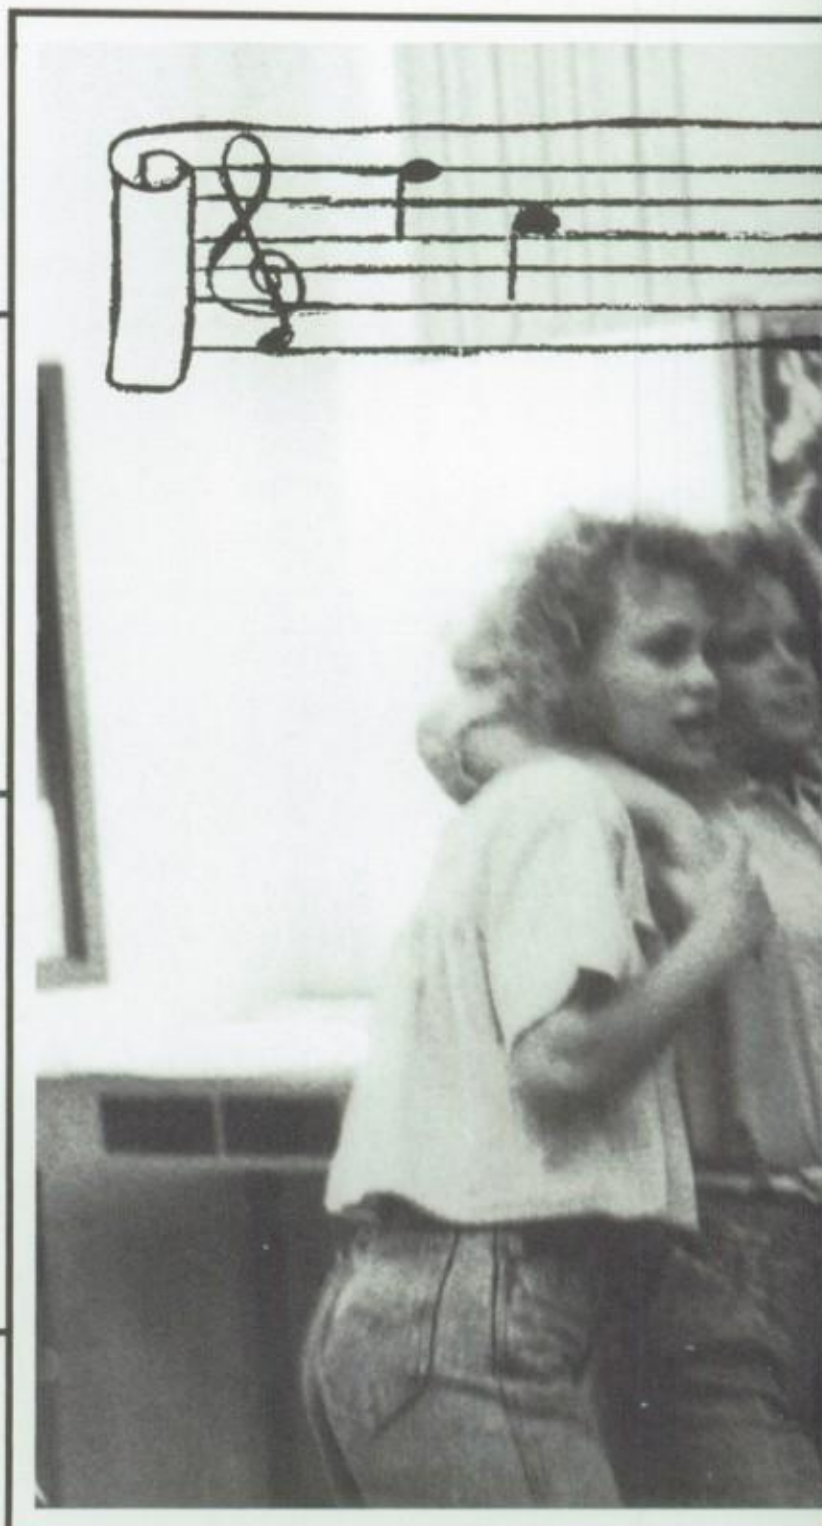

This year's marching songs were: "Fantasia", "Sunrise Lady", and "Tonight." During football season the band marched for their fans at home.

During basketball season the band played as half-time entertainment. The basketball team's favorite was "Hit Me with Your Best Shot." The cheerleaders made up a dance to go with "It's Hip to be Square."

Now that marching and pep band seasons are over, the band is working toward State Concert Band Finals, which will be in May. Competition will keep the band from going flat.

Janna Singleton, one of this year's Field Commanders, ends "Fantasia." Jenny Atkins and Barb Huff finish it off with an unusual tuba and piccolo duet.

At the end of every concert the a cappella choir sings an "Irish Blessing". A fan of the choir stitched the words in needlepoint for them.

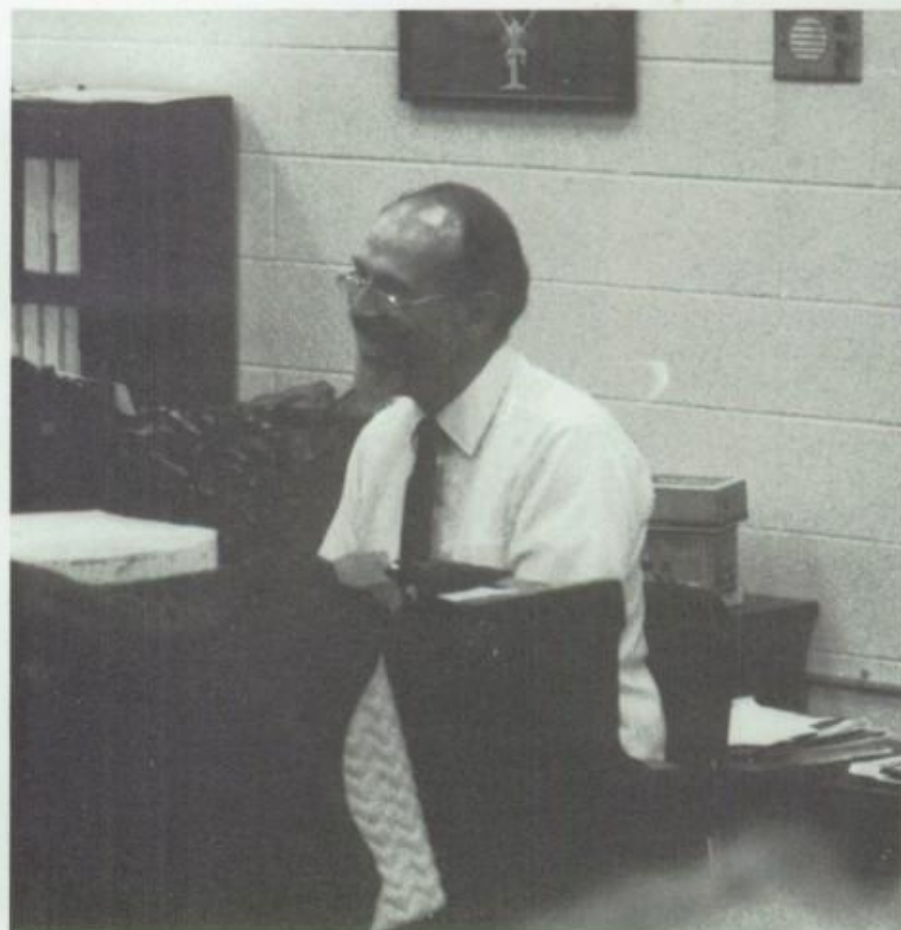

Mr. Neely is more a friend than a teacher. There are humorous moments like this every day.

A cappella choir is usually a class of sophomores, juniors, and seniors, but due to a lack of tenors, Mr. Neely chose a few freshman tenors like Kevin King.

Melinda Baas, Steve Rahe, and Bill Hoban kill time while waiting for class to start.

Mr. Neely's been teaching choir for over 25 years. He says, "They get better every year!"

Choir unites people in ways a lot of other classes can't. You can joke around and enjoy music at the same time, as shown here with Joyce Boone, Kellie Holobaugh, Tonya Garing, and Melinda Baas.

Choir

Down - But Not Out

Each year F.C.'s a cappella choir improves and this year's choir is proof of that. The choir sang songs like "Te Deum", "Last Words of David", "Sing a Song of Sixpence", and "O Magnum" this year.

This year, District contest was a big disappointment to the choir. They scored a 7, an 8, and a 9 in performance, and they scored an 11 in sight singing; 7 is the best. But despite this letdown a cappella choir will not quit. They went on to sing at the Baccalaureate ceremony and to record a tape at Mt. St. Francis in Floyd Knobs. Good luck next year. choir. We know you'll do well!

Many of the choir members are involved in extracurricular activities. Danny Jones had one of the leads in the fall musical 42nd Street.

Mr. Neely allows time to study if needed. He says if we give our time for concerts at Christmas time, then it's only fair he give us time to study. Michael Olmstead and Alison Neidiffer take advantage of this understanding.

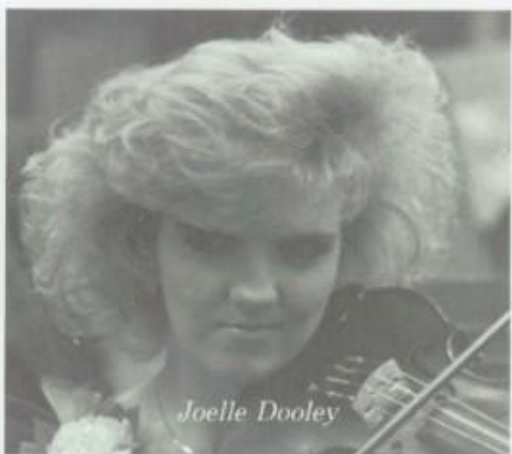

The FCHS Orchestra works very hard throughout the year. They started with 42nd Street and worked to contest. They filled the year in with wonderful concerts for everyone to enjoy. The Orchestra is full of outstanding players who are also involved in so many other activities. They work so others can enjoy. The practice starts the first day of school and goes non-stop to the end when they play at graduation. Some may go on and pursue a career in music but most will go into other careers. The memories and experience will always be with them.

Orchestra

Dawson McDonald, Noah Sodrel, Matt Lynch, Mike Glotzbach, looked good last year in tuxes. They look good this year too!

Michele Smith, senior, is a performer. Not only was she involved in orchestra but also helped out the flags for marching band.

Kelly and Shelly Vincent, juniors, have been playing in orchestra since 7th grade. It's double the talent with these twins.

Matt Lynch, freshman is one of the youngest members. He has been involved in orchestra since 7th grade.

ONCE UPON A MATTRESS

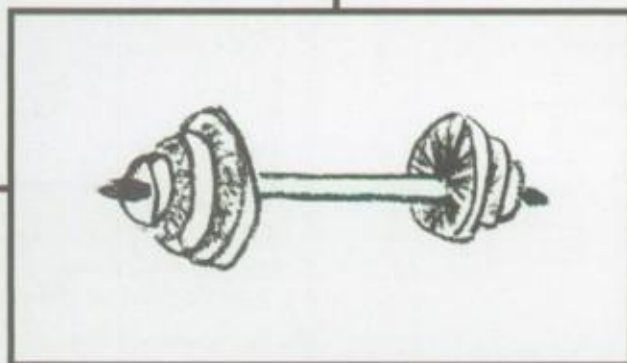

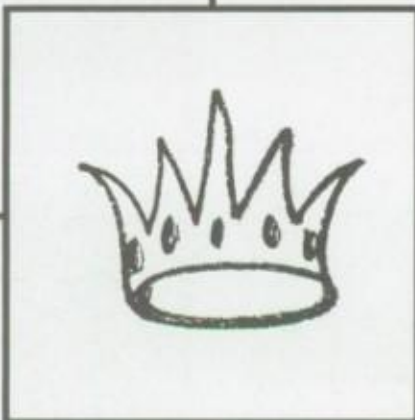

Danny Phillips, Danny Jones, and Robert Kaiser

As the kingdom's people rejoice with the arrival of the latest possible princess, the Jester, played by Danny Phillips, and the Princess Winfred, played by New Albany's Lisa Buba, dream of the future.

Prince Dauntless, portrayed by Steven Rahe, listens closely as his mother, played by Daisy Nauroth, lectures on the proper behavior of royalty.

This year, the theatre departments of New Albany and Floyd Central decided to try a joint production of a musical. The play, Once Upon A Mattress, was divided evenly between the two schools. Sharing everything, including roles of characters, technical duties, and musicians, the schools succeeded in providing the audience with an enjoyable and thoroughly memorable musical. The play takes place in a kingdom where a curse has been placed upon the subjects. As the curse says, none of the kingdom's people can marry another until the Prince Dauntless, played by Steven Rahe, has first found himself a royal princess. The Queen, portrayed by Daisy Nauroth, tries to keep her dearest child from leaving by eliminating all possible prospects of princesses. Against the Queen's wishes, a lively and energetic young woman, Princess Winifred, played by New Albany's Lisa Buba, becomes the kingdom's princess. By the end of the fairy tale, the subjects are rejoicing with their newly found freedom, and the Prince and Princess are happily married ever after.

Bill Hoban and Paula Merrill are just two of the kingdom's people who celebrate by dancing.

Lisa Buba's portrayal of the scintillating Princess Winifred was one which constantly stole the show.

The Sequence

Dazzlers, Liz Jones and Shannon Striegel perform a routine entitled "Oh Yeah" with local elementary children.

A YEAR OF SMILES

From summer camp to the National Invitational, the Dazzlers had a year of smiles. This was their fourteenth season, and for the first time boys were also included in a routine. Seniors Danny Phillips, Robert Kaiser, Bill Hoban, and Steve Rahe performed with the Dazzler officers. The Dazzlers are directed by Diane Kinzer, and the squad's senior captain is Caren Schwinghammer.

At dance camp in Lexington this summer, the Dazzlers won all seven awards given. They were also voted the team most admired by other squads from four surrounding states. In the fall, football games and the Harvest Homecoming Parade, at which they won "Most Outstanding Marching Unit," kept the squad busy. The Dazzlers also performed at all home games during the basketball season.

The Dazzlers came home from National Invitational in Dallas, Texas, with the "Sweepstakes" trophy for their officer routine. They were also awarded a Texas plaque for outstanding showmanship.

Below: Lori Waltrip once again ends a routine with the classic Dazzler pose and smile.

At right: While in Dallas, Kristen, Sallie, Jenny Liz, LaDonna, Angie, Melinda, Kim, and Missi got a chance to meet Ricky Skaggs, a famous country singer.

Top Cheerleaders Cheer, Perform, And Win

In the near past, cheerleaders jumped and yelled. Times have changed! Now cheerleaders cheer and perform and win.

This year's cheerleading squad did all three well. This was the second year for male cheerleader help and the first year the males have competed with the girls at camp. Mrs. Thompson feels the male cheerleaders will be a big asset to the squad providing more partner stunts and crowdpleasers.

The squad placed second at the NCA camp and Jennifer Davis and Donna Brown received big honors. For Jennifer, this was the second year of receiving the "Miss Cheerleader" award. Donna received the "Miss NCA All American Cheerleader" award. Amy Denzinger was nominated for this position, also.

The course of this year also contained a few tragedies. There were a few injuries including a broken arm, and the squad will also be losing their sponsor, Mrs. Drue Thompson. Miss Thrasher will be the new sponsor. She will help the squad perfect their new skills.

Jennifer Davis performed this pivot maneuver with ease until the middle of basketball season when she broke her arm.

1. The "crush" cheer, a favorite of the crowd this year, was performed at every game.
2. Amy Denzinger, the only sophomore on the Varsity Cheerleading Squad this year, did a great job in fitting in with the rest of the squad.
3. Shelly Bartram shows us the smile it takes to get our fans involved.
4. Male cheerleaders have been part of our squad for only two years, but they have benefited our school tremendously.

J.V. Cheerleaders

Row 1: Jennifer Miller, Angie Phelps, Tonya Wade, Lisa Pense. Row 2: Emily Carter and Meg Streepey.

No matter what the weather, Jennifer Davis shows us that a cheerleader must put in her best effort.

Donna Brown puts her life in Matt Marshall's hands to show her spirit for our school.

Excellence comes in many different forms. FC shows excellence in academics. The staff took inventory of present classes and developed some new ones while improving the old ones. One of the new ones is "Writing with Light" which is a creative writing class using computers. One of the improved classes is "Relationships" which was previously called "Focus on the Family." With the highly qualified staff, FC hopes to continue creating and recreating classes. This continues the tradition of excellence in education.

1. The Academic Decathlon came in fourth in competition. This year's members included Ms. Fishman, Bryan Hankins, Brian Ewing, Eric Ellis, Bryan Cavan, Brad Durham, Mr. Youngblood, Sam Striegel and Melissa Metcalf.
2. The Hi-Q Team made it to the third round. This year's members were Adam Crone, Mrs. Weber, Gene Peter, Eric Peter, Mr. Gilbert, Brad Durham and Jason Korfhage.
3. Although there are no Mickey Mouse classes at FC, there are Mickey Mouse Clothes. Julie Sauerheber shows off her Mickey Mouse shirt.

TAUGHTCHA

1. The Optimists speech winners were Scott Croft and Jenny Hoffman. Jenny advanced to state and won a $1,500 scholarship.
2. Robert Kaiser, Andy Liebert, Steven Rahe, and Rob Williams participated in Boy's State. To commemorate the 50th anniversary, participants were given jackets.
3. Teachers get involved in many sorts of things. Sometimes they work with students; sometimes frogs.

The Bagpiper Achieves Much

The excellent staff of the Bagpiper secured a position of a highly regarded school paper. Members of the journalism staff organized the annual Lip Sync contest, which is enjoyed by many each year. The Bagpiper also produced the King of Hearts Dance, at which senior Steven Rahe was crowned King. Attending two journalism conferences a year, the staff excelled in its achievements. The Bagpiper received the Most Improved school paper award from the Courier Journal. Several individuals earned recognition throughout the year. Keith Akers received the Best Cartoons award from Indiana High School Press Association. The Courier Journal recognized Joe Cailles with the Outstanding Staffer award. Editor Brian Ewing was awarded recognition by the Indiana State Safety Bureau for an article. Freshman Mike Stephens was the Outstanding Junior Journalist and will attend a writing program for gifted students in Bloomington over the summer. Obviously, much hard work and dedication by all involved with the Bagpiper enabled the school to receive many fine editions during the year.

Joe Cailles becomes deeply involved in an article for the paper while pretending to study Cliff Notes.

Seniors Susan Bierman and Brian Ewing reflect upon the many good and bad times experienced by the Bagpiper staff.

On The Air

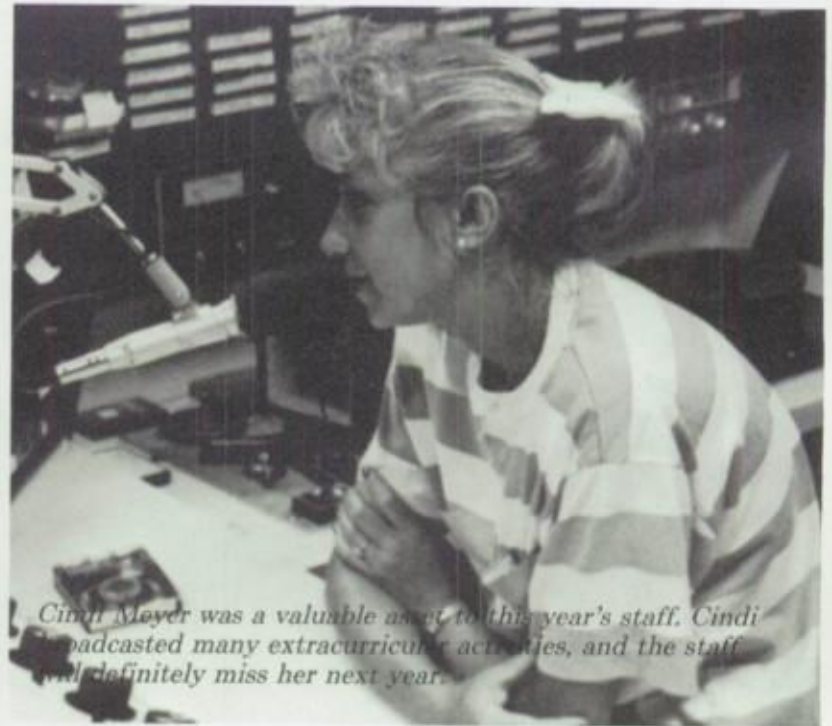

Once again the Floyd Central radio staff proved itself competent. The staff organized the Greek Games, a mini-style of Olympics. The money raised from the games profited many school organizations. Magic Carpet, a creative writing show for elementary students was continued this year after its great success last year. A new computer linked with a transformer at New Albany's station improves the sound of WNAS greatly. Many of the students took part in broadcasting football, basketball, and baseball games. Also, this year, WNAS added a part time athletic trainer, Mr. Schindler, to their staff. As a result, staff injury rate is on the decline. Listeners may tune in to WNAS during third and fourth periods and afterschool on Wednesdays from 2:30 - 9:00. While listening, you will hear hourly news-briefs, weather updates, and sports shorts.

Seated: Robin Schmidt, Phil Bartholomai, Heidi Kobelt. Standing: Suzie Knecht, Andy Liebert, Glen Rogers, Rob Willman, Cindi Meyer, Robert Kaiser, Krista Neibert, WNAS Staff Trainer Mr. Schindler, Joelle Dooley, Janna Singleton, Todd Carter, Todd Cunningham, Mr. Miller.

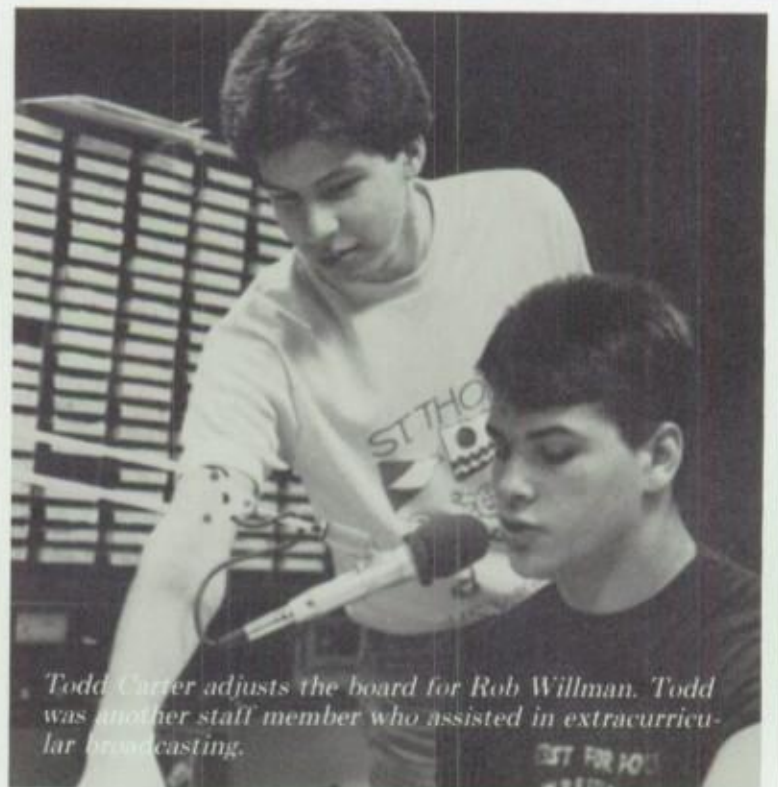

Andy Liebert searches for the perfect cassette.

Cindi Meyer was a valuable asset to this year's staff. Cindi broadcasted many extracurricular activities, and the staff will definitely miss her next year.

Seniors Joelle Dooley and Robert Kaiser seem to be enjoying each other's company, as Joelle assists Robert with the sound track selection.

Todd Carter adjusts the board for Rob Willman. Todd was another staff member who assisted in extracurricular broadcasting.

Prosser

Juniors and seniors who attend Prosser must apply at the end of their sophomore year, and each applicant's records are reviewed by his counselor before he can be accepted. They attend Prosser three hours a day, five days a week either in the morning or the afternoon sessions. Classes at Prosser cover a wide range of subjects from auto mechanics to word processing. Especially popular areas include cosmetology, diesel mechanics, and intensive office lab.

Prosser's classes combine classroom work with practical experience. Different building trades classes cooperate in the construction of a three bedroom house on a lot in a nearby subdivision. The work is done entirely by Prosser students. Work release is a program in which the students go to school for only half a day. For the remaining half they work part time jobs in their specified fields of study.

Middle: In horticulture; Bobby Brooks, Greg Freiberger, and Bobby Burk practice plant identification and classification.

Bottom: To Amy Drake operating a robot is just one of many interesting aspects of the electronics class that is required for many Prosser students.

Prosser's print shop class manufactures many of the pamphlets and other office materials used in the New Albany/Floyd County school system.

In Drafting, Dean Gaines works on one of many time consuming independent projects.

Tonya Garing

Scott Whitfield, a student in the masonry department, receives the individual attention and instruction that make Prosser a good learning experience.

Helping to smooth out today's and tomorrow's wrinkles, the Home Ec. classes show students how to make life a little easier. The classes provide a wide variety of projects for students to use the skills they've acquired. In Foods for Fun and Creative Cooking, Students' projects consist of cooking meals at home for their family. In the Sewing for Fun, students create projects such as "original design" sweat-shirts. This project, like many others in the Home Ec. department, encourages individuality. The home design class creates a "dream home." Using the principles and elements of design and other points, students create a written presentation using samples of paint, wallpaper, carpet, etc....

Billy Disney shows his classmates the techniques of silk screening.

These are just a few of the many projects in the Home Ec. classes that give students a chance to express their individuality.

The Shop classes prepare FC, young people with skills useful for many future careers. The printing classes teach the use of various printing techniques including layout design and photography which help a student planning a career in the journalism field. The classes not only teach basic skills, but the safety aspects of work such as cleanliness and caution in using machines and chemicals.

Mrs. Baylor shows Stephanie Tooley and Tabitha Juliot how to fix a hem on a pair of shorts. This was one of the sewing projects in "Life Skills". (pictured above) Burt Furmall designs a layout for printing class. This skill will be helpful in advertising and journalism. (pictured below)

With the addition of new classes and improved ones, FC hopes to give students a head start of the adult world.

Sight is one of the most precious gifts we have. Many of the students in the art classes are gifted with a different aspect of sight: the ability to see with the mind's eye.

Aside from the regular classes, where the basic concepts are learned, students can be members of the Art Honor Society and/or the Art Club.

The Art Honor Society consists of the top art students. The qualifications are that a student must maintain an "A" average for at least one semester. The 1987-1988 Art Honor Society members are Martha Mayfield, Cathy Reisert, Missy Sinkhorn, Jodie Calfee, Lisa Smith, Angie Banet, Brandi Auxier, Brad Weckman, Jody Nussbaum, Scott Henderson, Scott

McKenney, Eric Peter, Paul Curtis, Lisa Smith, Kelly Gibbs, and Raeko Reid.

The Art Club is open to all art students. Throughout the year, the Art Club does various projects for the school. This year Lisa F. Smith, Jessica Bozarth, Lisa Perry, and Brad Weckman painted a Highlander for the football field restrooms. Members Scott McKenney, and Scott Henderson created the "space" wall between Mr. Minton's and Mr. Gordon's rooms. Students also painted signs to go above the teachers' doors to depict the subjects they teach. The Art Club raised money for awards to give outstanding art students by selling M&M's and painting faces at basketball games. The 1987-1988 Art Club are pictured at

1. Rewards for good artwork include the Art Honor Society and the Art Club. Jody Nussbaum is a member of both.
2. Escaping into his imagination, Jeremy Furmall paints his island paradise.
3. A lot of time and patience goes into mixing the right color needed for a painting. Lisa Smith tries to achieve the color she sees with her mind.
4. One of the fun aspects of art is using the pottery wheel. Missy Sinkhorn creates a clay bowl.
5. Lisa F. Smith, planning for a future in art, works on one of the many projects she does throughout the year.

Foreign Language

We take pride in our foreign language at F.C. Many talented students take their skill of a second language and turn it into accomplishment outside the classroom. It gives the students a chance to experience other culture and lifestyles to be more enlightened and aware of the world around us.

Foughtcha

"Foughtcha" at Floyd Central is a very important part of the school. Not only do our athletes enjoy what they do, but they also have the talent it takes to succeed. Our football team went farther this year, sectional championship, than ever in the school's history. Several of the Wrestlers competed at the state championship. Our basketball team progressed to regionals. Our athletic program is important to the individual as well as the school.

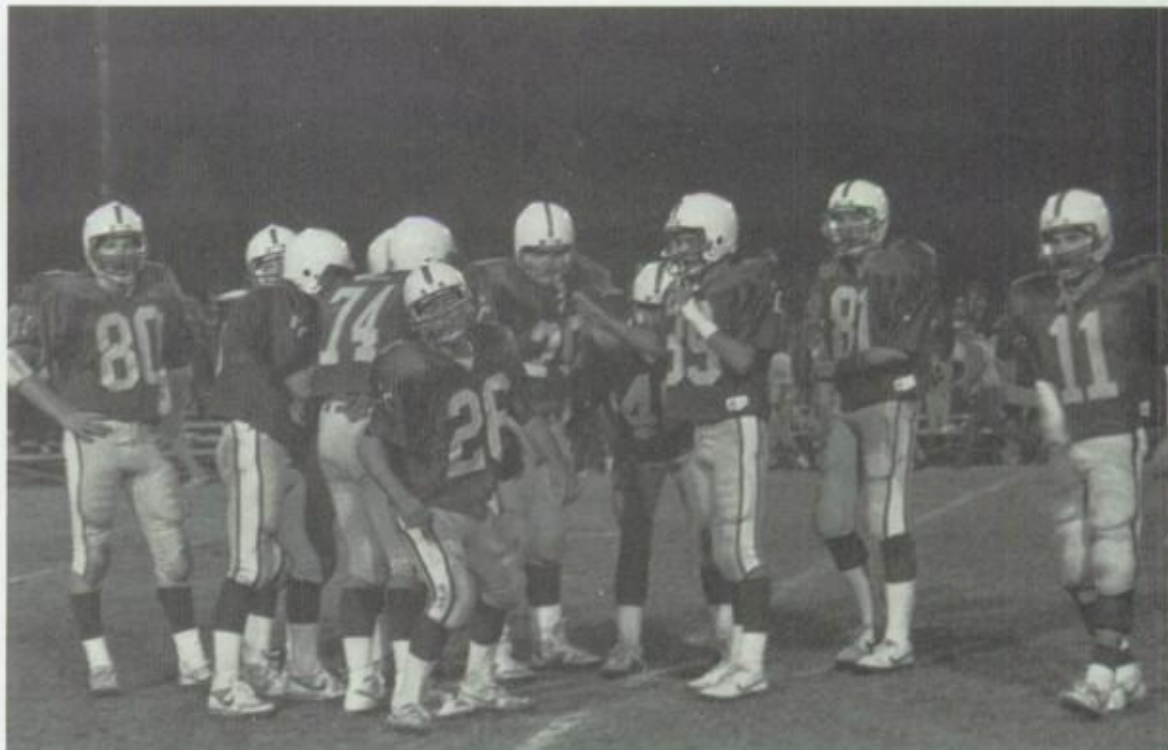

The Congratulation

The Completion

Seniors Shawn Andrada and Critter Thompson made a great quarterback receiver team this year. Critter caught a pass from Shawn and ran for a combined sixty yard play. After the play Shawn and Critter congratulate each other on a job well done.

Winning Strength

This year's football team was one of the strongest ever both mentally and physically. Many of the players concentrated on building their strength and stamina immediately after the season ended by lifting weights, four days a week, three days at school and one day at Coach Weigleb's home. Coach Weigleb feels that this program not only increases physical strength but also strengthens self-confidence.

The results of this program were evident throughout the season. Not only were five players voted to all-conference, including the only sophomore, but the team set two school records. The team won seven consecutive games and advanced farther in the sectional than any other Floyd Central football team. The Highlanders were beaten by Jasper in the sectional championship game.

Coach Weigleb feels that leadership will be a problem next year after 15 seniors graduate, but he has confidence in his players and is looking forward to another strong season.

Shawn Andrada, who missed parts of six games during the season due to a knee injury, made a great comeback and threw for one touchdown pass to help beat New Albany 17-14 and win back the anchor trophy.

Team work is very important. Every player must start at the same time, immediately after the ball is snapped. Junior Brad Schroeder and the rest of the back field start together.

Despite injuries like this to Tony Richert, the Highlanders always came out on top due to a strong bench.

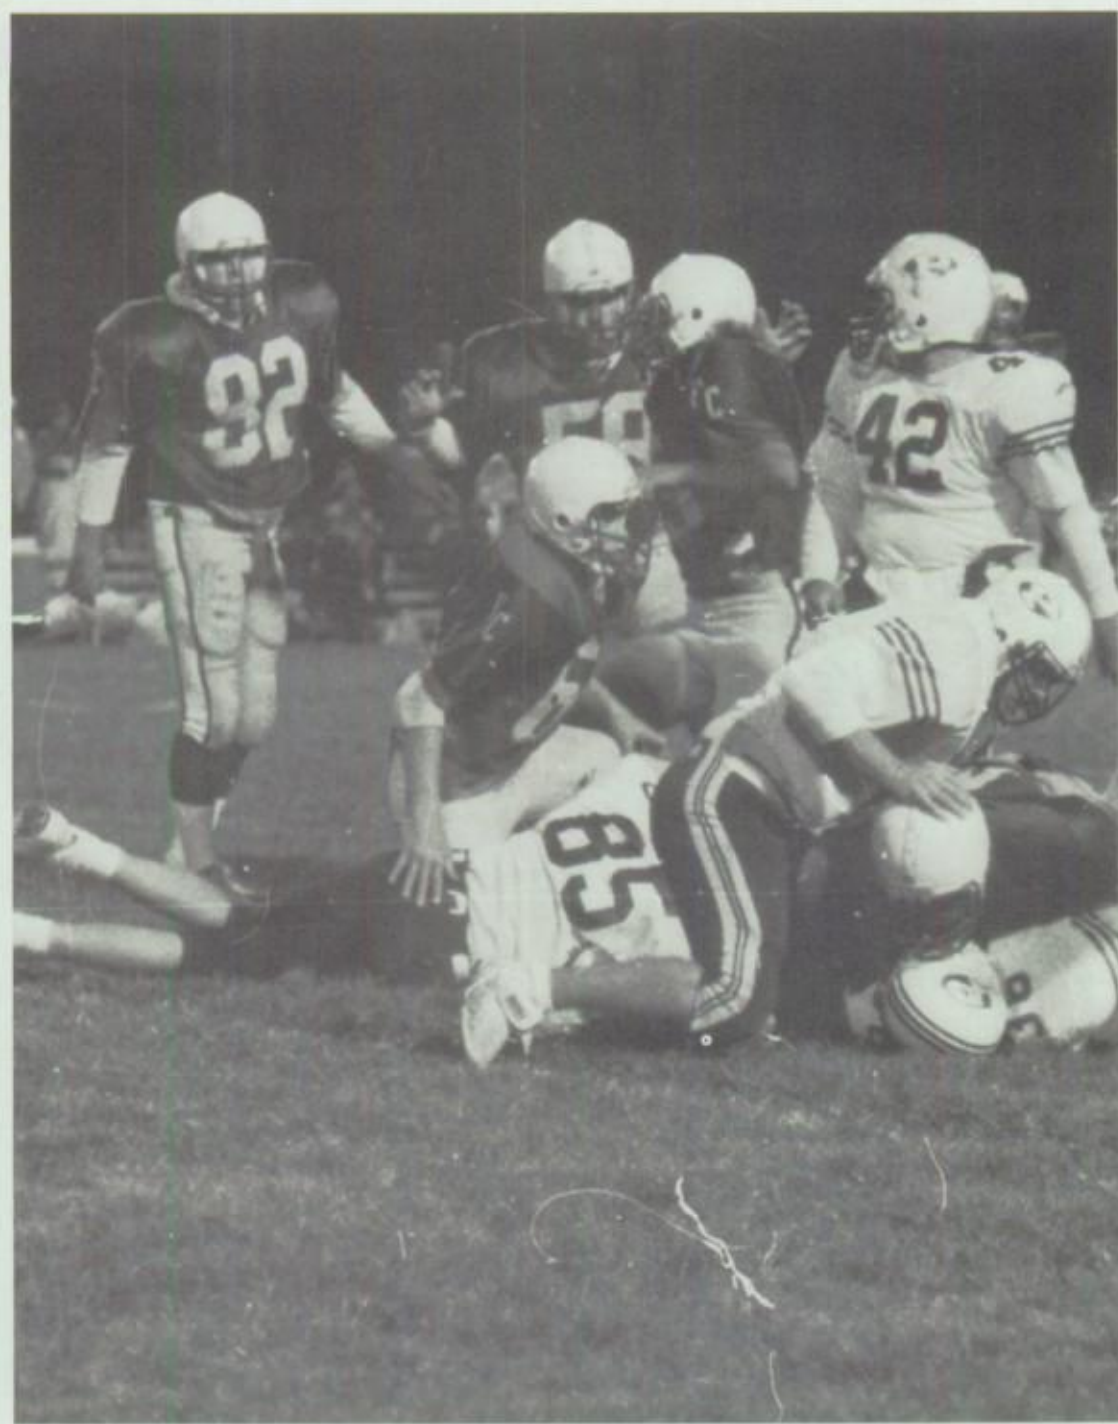

Protecting the quarterback is a skill that needs to be perfected to have a great team. Floyd Central's front line protects Shawn Andrada from the defense.

Juniors Brad Schroeder, Jim Jablonski, and Tony Richert celebrate a touchdown and learn what it is like to lead a team to victory. When fifteen seniors graduate this year, these players will be the leaders every week.

Senior Glen Rogers suffered a knee injury midseason and missed several games. Despite this set-back, Glenn was voted most valuable offensive lineman of the season.

Stopping the opponent from advancing the ball is the main job of the defense. The Highlander's defense worked hard all year on this skill, and this is proof of their hard work.

Senior Jeff Tait was a great asset to the Floyd Central football team this year. He was voted All Conference Defensive Lineman and Most Valuable Defensive Lineman for the year. He was also a member of the South Allstars and the UPI Allstars.

Weighting for the Season

The J.V. Football team, which consisted of all sophomores, beat Jeff for the first time. The Score was 17-7. The team held on to the optimistic start to complete a good season.

The team practiced hard before and after the beginning of the season. They practiced after school until six o' clock and for two hours on Saturday. Many of the players keep in shape between seasons by running, swimming, and lifting weights. The team hopes with the practice between seasons to be undefeated next season.

1. From television we have heard about the agony of defeat: Tim Michl struggles to gain yardage, but his opponent grabs on to "de feet".
2. The quarterback, Clint Diers #15 holds one of the most demanding positions: he must take the ball with good hands from the center and pass it then to a receiver.
3. Awaiting the first play of the game, Tim Michl and Don Happel listen to the traditional playing of the national anthem.

Losses Complete Recovery In Sight

The 1987 Floyd Central Volleyball team had its first losing season since Paul Maymon began coaching, but Coach Maymon is very hopeful for a recovery next year.

"After our first losing season, we expect to rebound and we have gained much losing experience from this season. We will have eight returning let-terman and with that experience, hopefully, we'll get back on track next year."

Another good point to consider is that teams will have an average of wins and losses. Floyd Central has gotten their losses out of the way. Next year should be all wins.

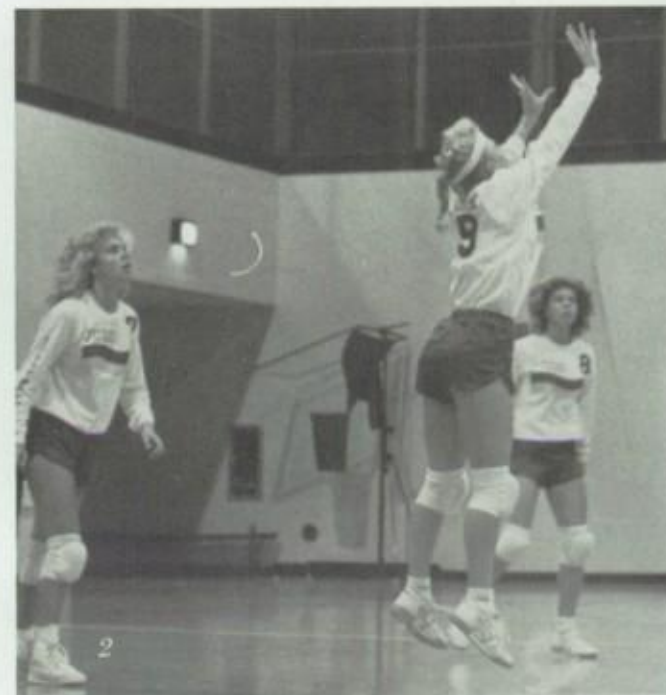

There is a sad note. The volleyball team lost two of their needed players, seniors Beth Anderson and Kris Tyra.

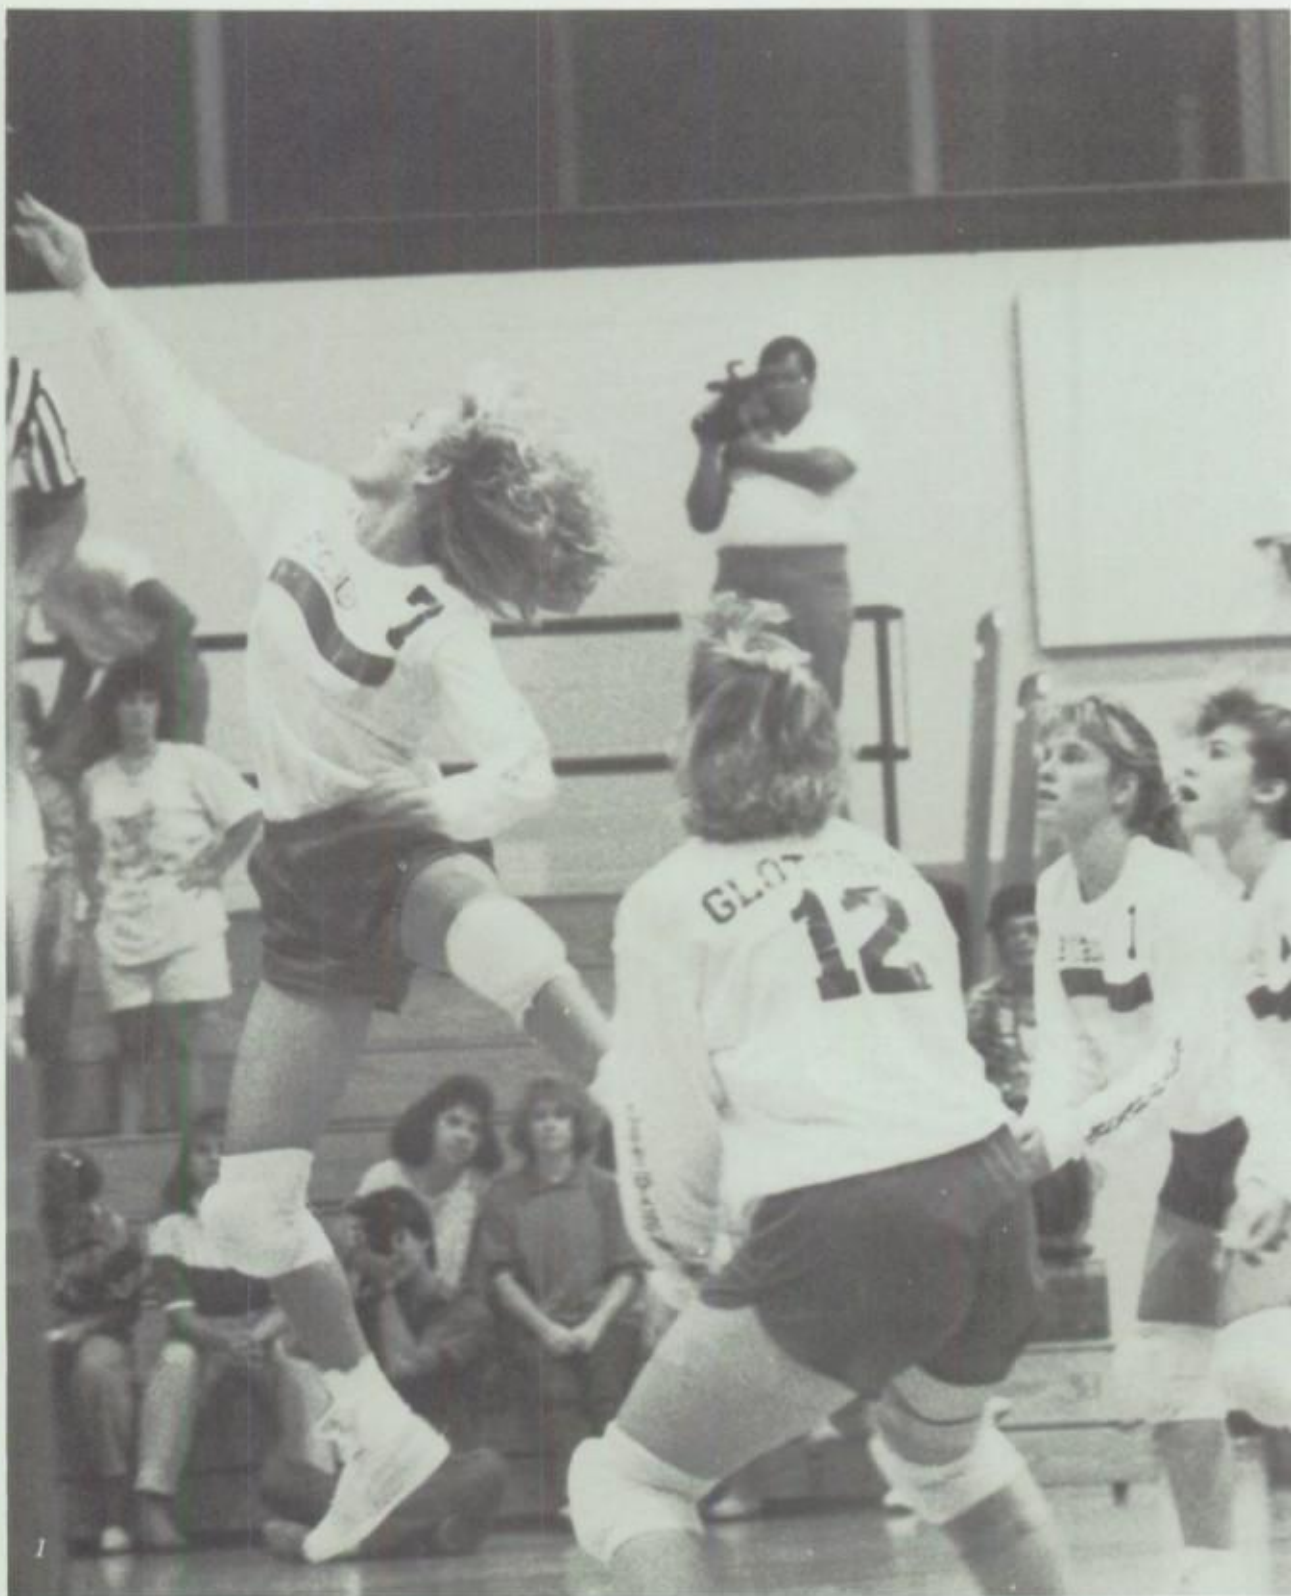

The Floyd Central volleyball team ended their season with a 16-16 record and finished fourth in their conference. Next year should be exciting!

1. In volleyball a player must be able to anticipate where a serve will land. Dee Singleton and Beth Anderson are on their toes and waiting.
2. The set is one of the most crucial moves in volleyball. It takes a lot of time and practice to perfect this shot, and Kris Tyra shows just how easy it is once a player has perfected it.
3. Girls show athletic ability and desire that is natural, but they also practice specific dives such as the sprawl. Kris Tyra and Amy Bertrand show the results of that practice.
4. Before a game the girls perform a warm up routine which enables them to become psyched up to show their spirit to their competitors. Kelly Ware and Tracy Aemmer complete this routine with a back roll.

1. Kelly Ware's attack shows the intensity and concentration that she has mastered. They result in great shots.
2. Beth Anderson displays her ability for the spike which is a very difficult move in volleyball to perfect.

F.C. CC→

Two of this year's important victories for the boys' team were the Trinity Invitational and the meet at Crawford County. They made the trip to semi-state again this year with Mr. McWilliams who has coached the team for twenty years. He said that he was happy with so much success from such a young team. This year's boys' varsity team includes four sophomores, one junior, and seniors Doug Melton and Chris Nolot.

The girls' team had an outstanding year. Their wins include Conference, Sectional and Regional; they also won meets at Warren Central, Lincoln Trails, New Albany, Crawford County, Jeffersonville, Providence, North Harrison, Eastern, Floyd Central, Male and Southern Illinois. These wins include a perfect score at Sectional which means the girls took the first five places in the race. They are ranked second in the state after the team got runner-up at this year's state meet. The varsity team includes two freshmen, one sophomore and four members of the senior class: Shannon Keithley, Rachel Riehm, Becky Sheehan, and Angie Allen. The girls' team was also mentioned in an article in an issue of Sports Illustrated

PLAYING IN STREAKS

Instead of having a winning streak as was expected, this year's tennis team had a streak of bad luck. Instead of having wins, they had injuries. The mishaps started with a broken elbow and ended with a car wreck the night before regionals which involved three of the team's players.

But despite all of the obstacles, the team had a good season. They won I.U.S. Invitational in which eight teams participated. Freshman Dusty Condra won #1 singles and sophomore Chris Kollmeyer won #3 singles.

The team ended the season with 15 wins and 7 losses. Dusty Condra finished #1 singles, Sean Gibson #2 singles, and Chris Kollmeyer #3 singles. In doubles the finishers were Adam Crone and Jason Meyer #1, Darin Watson and Jeff Wethington #2. Jeff and Darin were also runners-up at the I.U.S. Invitational. Bobby Huel was the team's reserve player.

We can all look forward to a good team next year. We'll only be losing one senior, Adam Crone, and we'll miss him very much. So, Good Luck team!

With much practice, Clint Mattson shows the "ease" at which the difficult stroke, the butterfly, can be swum.

Senior Mike Walker eagerly awaits the start of his race. Mike was very valuable to the team this year, setting many records during the season.

Swimmers and the Clock

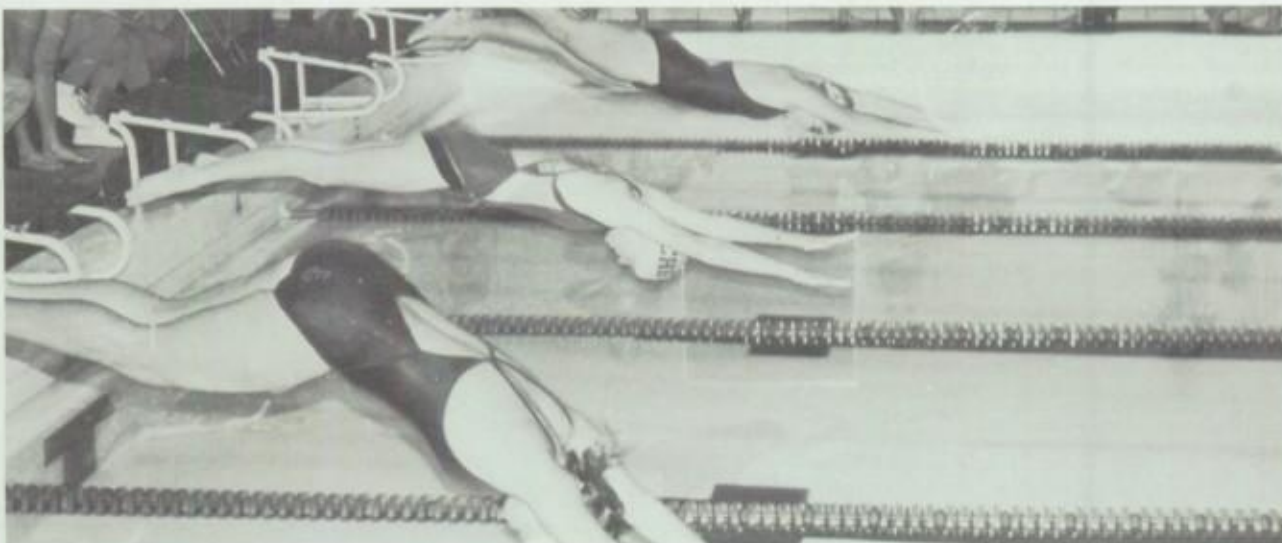

Swimmers and the Water

With much hard work and practice, the boys' and girls' swimming teams completed the season with much success. Although the girls were few in numbers, they placed fourth out of eight in the conference and fifth out of eleven in the sectional. Even though the girls didn't always win, they kept up their spirit, reminding us that winning isn't everything. The boys' team also accomplished much this season. With a regular season record of 4-7, the boys placed sixth out of ten in sectionals and placed fourth in the conference. Senior Mike Walker finished his high school swimming career with much achievement. Mike broke the school record in the 100 backstroke and tied the 50 free-style record. Mike was the conference champion in the 100 backstroke. Obviously all elements of swimming were well represented this year by our outstanding teams.

The Few, The Proud, The Great, The F.C. Wrestling Team

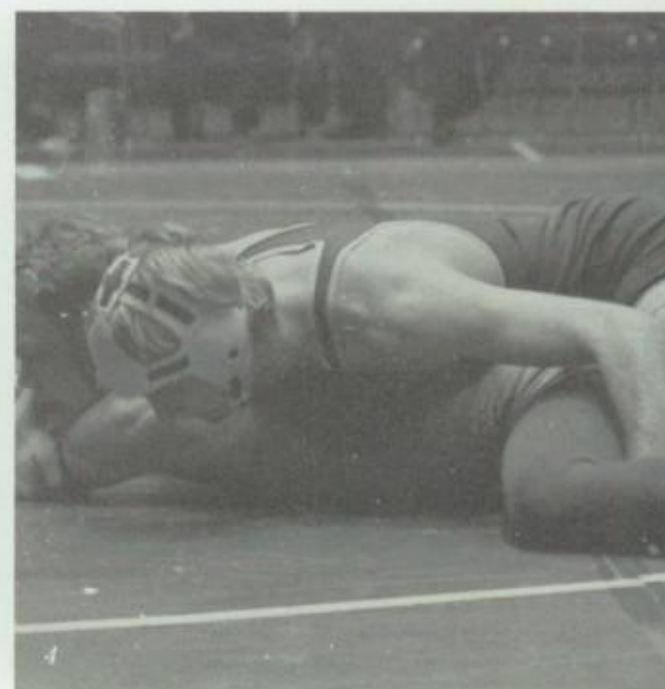

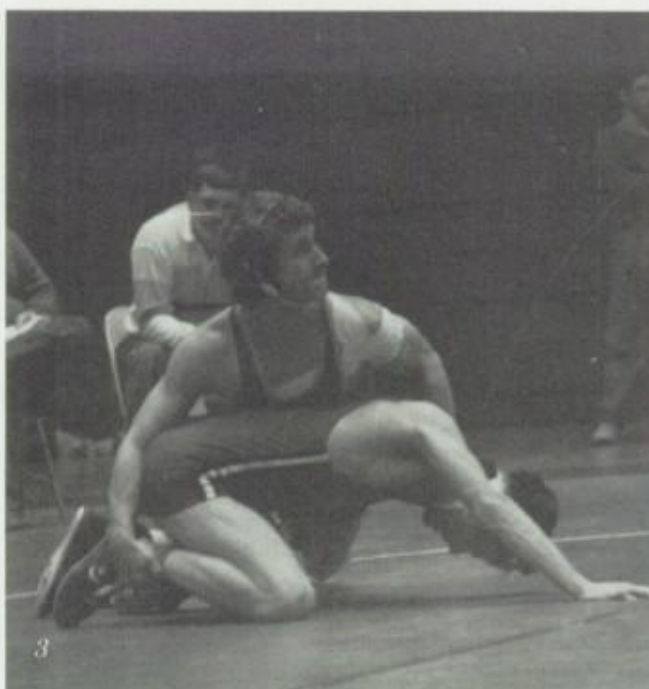

This year's varsity wrestling team had a record of 10-4. The team had a great season, qualifying three for state. As a team they won the sectional and regional. Eight wrestlers advanced to regionals. Brad Butler and Mark Stephens were defeated at regionals. While Rob Willman, Stan Taylor, and Donnie Happel made it as far as semi-state before being eliminated. That left three wrestlers to travel to the State Finals in Indianapolis. Seniors Bart Dilling and Todd Sheckell and Junior Aaron Clay had that chance. Although no one came out victorious, we are still very proud of their efforts. Coach Caple has even higher goals for next year, to win the conference, sectional, regional, semi-state, and State Finals. Good Luck Wrestlers.

Power lifting takes great dedication, strength, and commitment. Coach Weigleb and Coach Ables have offered support as the team has worked its way to capture the title at the Indiana State Power Lifting meet which was held at Floyd Central this year. Power lifting began as a way for athletes to build strength for other sports. Now some of the athletes have become full time lifters. The sport demands much, but the lifters benefit much. Jeff Tait and Noah Sodrel credit the sport with success in the future.

Basketball Team Makes Some Goals

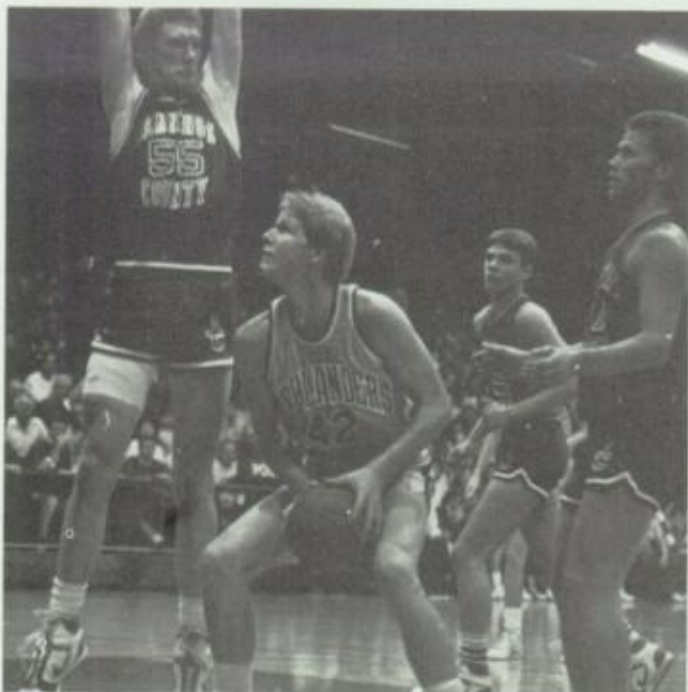

This year's varsity basketball team missed a few goals, but made more than enough to be proud of. They had an overall record of 17-7. The team won their own sectional, but they were defeated by Jeffersonville in the first round of the regionals. They were led in scoring by juniors Pat Graham and Shane Gibson. Pat and Shane were also voted on the All-Area team. Although this was the first year for the three point field goal in high school basketball, it did not have a major effect on the offense. During the regular season Pat Graham broke a school record by scoring 50 points in one game against Jeffersonville. Seniors Kelley Brown, Marc Ilari, Andy Liebert, Chris Thompson, and Tim Witt will be missed, but they will move on to achieve higher goals. When asked how the season went senior Kelley Brown stated, "Overall we had a good season. We probably had higher goals set that we didn't accomplish, but there's always next year and more goals."

Girls' Basketball Has A Rebuilding Season!

This years' girls' varsity basketball team had a rebuilding season. With only two seniors on the squad, Coach Maymon had to use some of his younger players to gain some varsity experience. Beth Anderson and Shannon Stiller were the veterans of the squad and showed great leadership throughout the season. Although their final record was 7-12 the Floyd Central Lady Highlanders represented our school well.

Learning the Highlander System

- 1) Although basketball is a team sport, sometimes you have to go it alone. Mike Neely sees no one open and takes the shot himself.
- 2) Interacting with teammates is vital to winning the game. Dewey Nantz passes off to an open teammate.
- 3) A quick step is the most important in a drive. Jamie Tomes has taken the first step and is on his way to the two points.
- 4) A quick change of direction often occurs. Brad Bartlett goes after a loose ball after a quick change.

Chris Nolot finishes yet another race of his long-term career. For him track is a continuation - from cross-country - of strenuous workouts with Coach McWilliams.

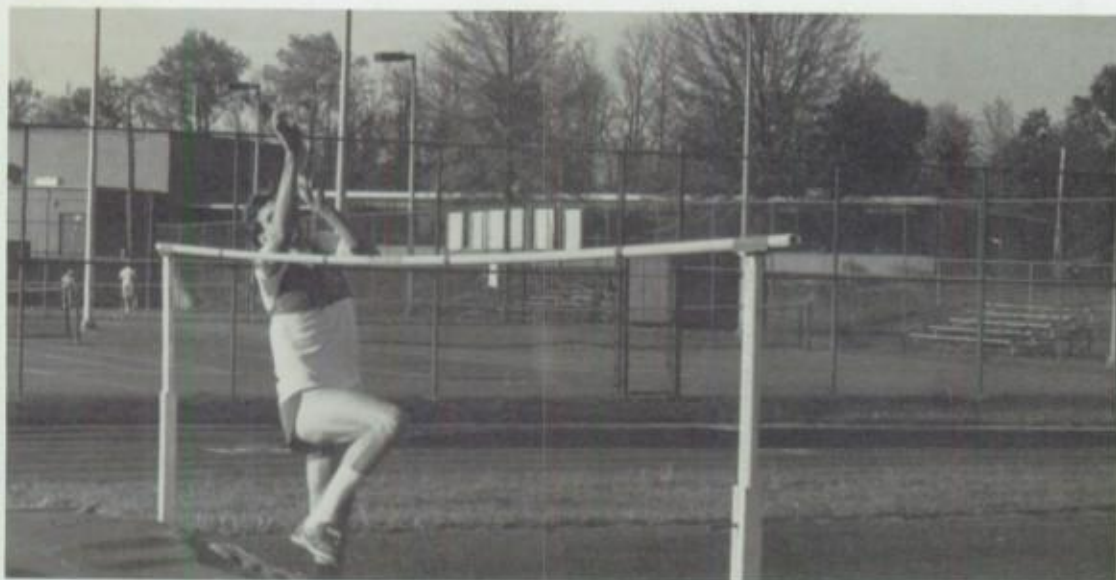

Kevin and Andy stride one step closer to the finish. Seymour presents tough competition.

This year track became the melting pot of many sports. Athletes from baseball, power lifting, basketball, cross country, and football joined together and offered a competitive season. Jeff Tait converted his strength and fitness into technique for shot and disc; he averaged ten points per meet. Doug Melton continued his hard work, which originated from cross country training, and competed in the mile and half mile. The examples are many. Tom Hudson became our only state finalist in high jump with a personal record of 6' 4". This year's track team is a prime example of great effort and unity.

Jeff Tait turns experience from power lifting into points for his team.

Senior Tom Hudson had a prosperous year as a high jumper. He became the only state finalist from F.C.

Mike Pfeifer, Chad Waggoner, Doug Melton, and Mike Delisle are destined to finish what they've begun. In long distance track, endurance is the key.

Girls' Track

Row Three - Dana Rainbolt, Angie Hinton, Kathy Greenwell, Michelle Garrison, Leigh Ann Stratman, Kim Neckar, Gina Jenkins, Amy Melyon, Mr. Weigleb, Krista Neibert. Row Four - Becky Sheehan, Lisa Smith, Erin Young, Sherri Hudson, Tracy Aemmer, Brook Dilling and Valerie Pierce.

I have enjoyed the competition of track during the past seven years. Like other sports, track teaches you to work hard when your body says "no". You learn to work with your team members, and to appreciate the time which your coaches give.

Stephanie Anders

1. These girls stand in line anticipating the run of the relay race.
2. Rachel Riehm and Angie Allen, seniors at F.C., are going to use their experience involved in the relay race.
3. Tanya Maupin is a sophomore hurdler, she has that look of determination that F.C. track members have.
4. Stephanie Anders is a senior high jumper at Floyd Central, her average height jumped this year was 5'3". She is 5'3".
5. Christy Lytle is a Freshman at F.C.; she displays her talents as a long jumper.

Row 1: Jennifer Hagedorn, Robin Whistine, Row 2: Tonia Bates, Stacey Condra, Monica Nolan, Lee Miller, Jennifer Miller, Cindi Meyer, Sarah Mosier. Row 2: Julie Jenkins, Jennifer McCaw, Tracie Oster.

1. Many times a backhand shot will require two hands to brace the racket as Tonia Bates demonstrates.
2. Freshman Jennifer Miller goes after the ball with a forehand shot.
3. In an afternoon practice, Tracie Oster may hit up to 50 forehand shots.

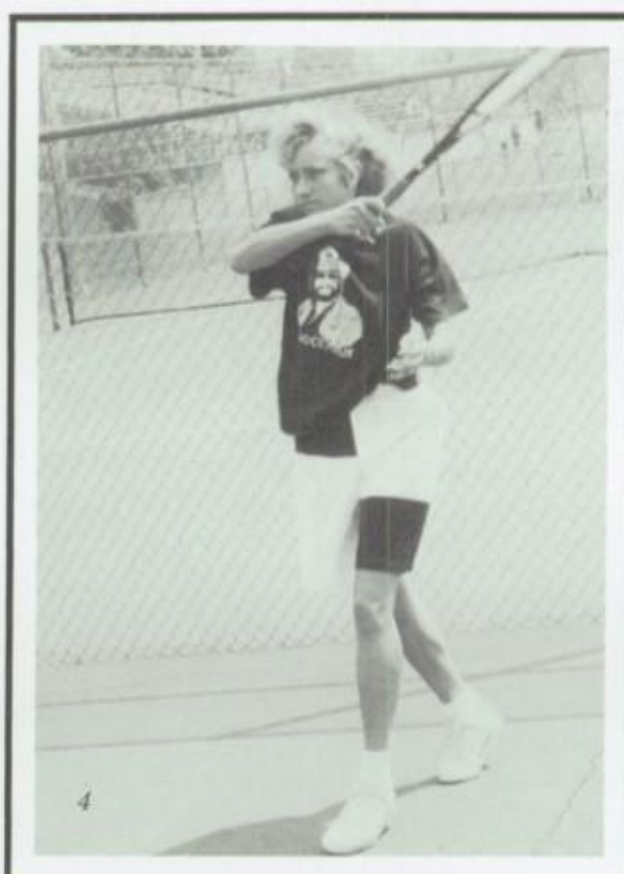

The F.C. Tennis team seniors compiled a 79-8 record over a four year period. They won a tough regional title over Northeast Dubois 3-2. The 3-2 score appeared again at semistate, but at semistate, Bloomington South won a 3-2 match. The match was won in a tiebreaker game at number 2 doubles. The quality of play showed the strength and depth of the tennis team. Stacey Condra, who has won a tennis scholarship to the University of Alabama, played nationally ranked Kristi Thomas and was beaten 6-4, 6-4. Tania Bates played her best game to date and defeated state ranked Brenda Bodner 5-7, 7-3, 6, 4. The number 1 doubles team of Cindi Meyer and Traci Oster won 6-4, 6-4.

Coach Miller said his team played well; "It was just a matter of us losing. It was a matter of them winning." Our team won a lot.

1. The #1 player on the girl's tennis team this year was senior Stacey Condra.
2. Robin Whistine, who is #3 in singles, prepares to follow through on a backhand swing.
3. Junior Jennifer Hagedorn volleys the ball. This is a shot used close to the net as a put-away shot.
4. Cindy Meyer prepares to defend her #1 spot in doubles with partner Jennifer Hagedorn.

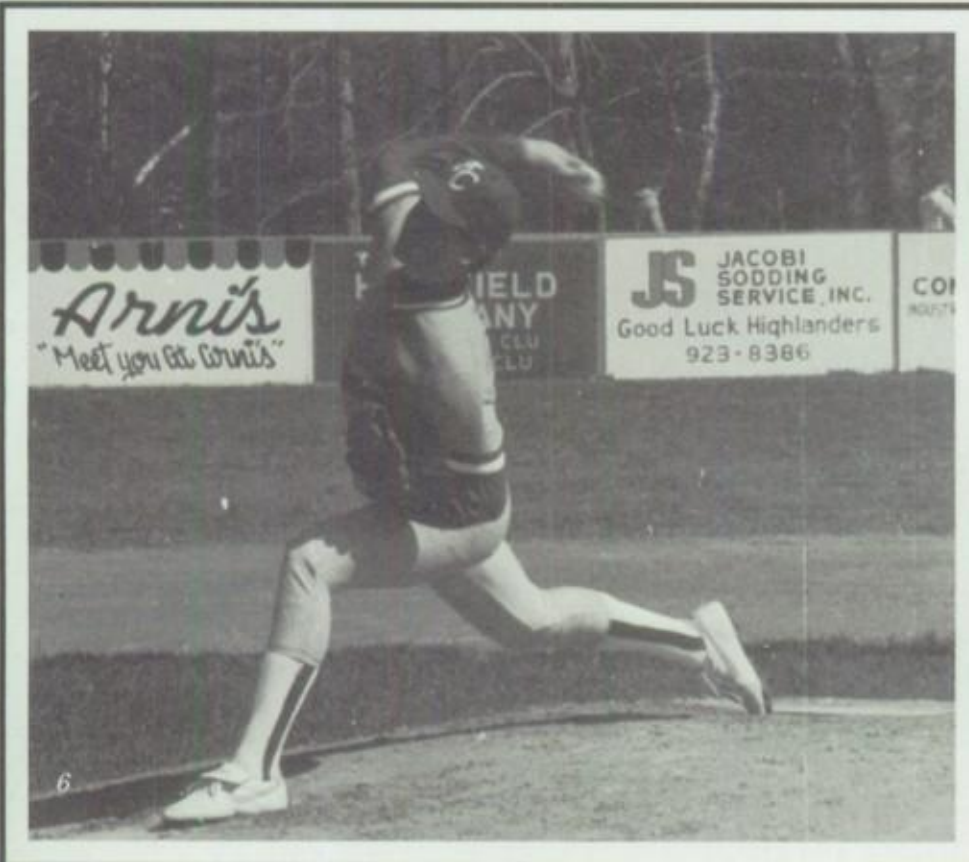

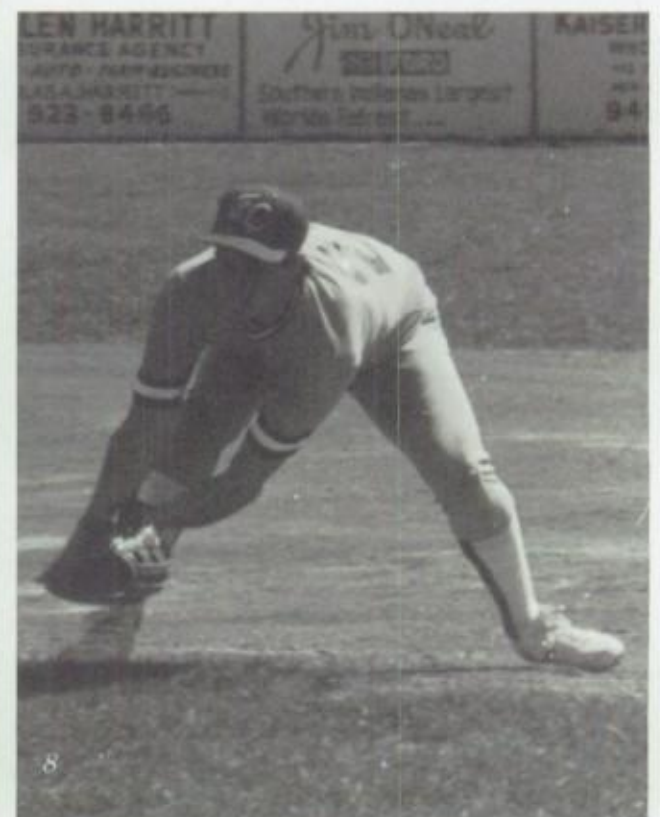

Row 1 - Jason Pence, Steve Baldwin, Shawn Andrada, Mike Brown, Jeff Wethington, Brad Schroeder, Joey Fontanetta. Row 2 - Derek Boyd, Julian King, Mr. Frieberger, Chris Thompson, Mr. Pierce, Kyle Gordon, Kenny Haller. Row 3 - Dave Todino, Darin Watson, Jamie Polk, Steve McGlasson, Kelly Brown, Mike Neely.

- 1) Quickness is necessary in fielding the ball. Kenny Haller uses that quickness for an out at first.
- 2) Second baseman Kyle Gordon stops a grounder.
- 3) Third baseman Kelly Brown sees with a glance a play at second.
- 4) Brad Schroeder throws the ball home for an out.
- 5) Before the game, the players encourage and support each other to ensure a victory.
- 6) Jamie Polk launches a fast ball that is sure to dazzle the batter.
- 7) Steve McGlasson puts the ball right down the center and right past the batter.
- 8) Darin Watson snaps the ball off the ground to stop the play.

Senior first baseman Kris Tyra stretches for the ball. Kris was very valuable last year, as she was named All Conference, and proved to be just as valuable this year.

The player and the glove

The player and the catch

Any coach will tell you that it is nearly impossible to beat a team three times in a row. Floyd Central beat New Albany in early season play. Next, Floyd Central beat the Bulldogs in the Hoosier Hill's Conference championship game. It would be difficult for the Highlander girls to pull off another victory against their arch rivals. The third meeting of the two schools proved to be a tough struggle. New Albany avenged its earlier losses to Floyd Central by capturing the sectional title with a 5-3 defeat of our girls. The team finished the 1988 with a record of 18-3.

Senior DeeAnn Ricketts polished her skills as an excellent pitcher.

Stacy Lange waits for the right moment to run for the home plate and score.

Playing In The Rough

The boy's golf team had a very rough season. They had to forfeit their first eleven matches, but they won their twelfth match against Providence and Charlestown. They also came in second this season in the conference tournament behind Bedford North Lawrence by three strokes, 310 to 313. The team needs time and practice to improve their skills and will be back for a winning season next year.

Row 1: Kevin Linne, Todd Treitz, Nathan Hart, Troy Conrad, Steve Shircliff, Kevin Main. Row 2: Eddie Mayfield, Noel Draper, Martin Jacobi, Sam Striegel, Josh Banet, Jason Meyer, Roger Reynolds. Row 3: John Applegate, Coach Caple, Clint Diers.

Strength is very important in golf. Roger Reynolds drives the ball with full force.

Jason Meyer practices his drive to prepare for the sectionals.

Following through on his swing, Steve White drives the ball from the first tee.

Sammy Striegel was the driving force behind the team this year and will be missed next season.

Golf Scores Will Go Down

The team has one returning veteran, senior Heidi Kobelt. She was starting her forth season of play and was a good leader and captain. Two other girls returned to play their second year of golf. These two girls even though in their second year are still in the learning stage and are probably one year away from playing well. The team had two girls starting their first year of competition, sophomore Marcy Grove and freshman Kristen Schwinghammer. Mid-way through the season Sarah Jacobi came out, this was her first time ever playing golf.

As a team they had much intensity and drive to play and do well. Their season record doesn't come close to showing the true results of the season. They had many nine hole matches decided by a few strokes. The highlight of the season was defeating New Albany who was undefeated at the time. The team finished sixth in the H.H.C. Tournament and was very disappointed in their performance. The team steadily got better during the season, but when it came time for the tournament, they didn't meet their expectations.

Senior Heidi Kobelt led the team to many victories this year and will be missed next season.

This was Suzanne Adams' second year of play, and she is still in the learning stage. Next year should be her best year yet.

Teamwork is very important even in golf. Team members lend support and boost confidence especially in practice. Marcy Grove and Kristen Schwinghammer practice to improve their putting skills.

This was Sarah Jacobi's first year on the golf team. She has improved a lot and will be an asset to the team next season.

Old Sports New Sport

This year Floyd Central introduces a new school sport, soccer. In the past soccer has been played as a club sport, but it was not officially endorsed by the school until this year. Many players believe that the team will gain new players, and will receive the recognition it has deserved for the past few seasons. Soccer is played both in the spring and fall seasons, and so players must be extremely dedicated to keep up with such a hectic schedule. At this time Floyd Central has no official soccer field so the games are played at other schools or at Binford Park in New Albany. A soccer team at Floyd Central is a new addition to the sports program and we wish them much luck in the future.

Passing the ball is an important skill which must be mastered by all players before the season begins.

Our entire team is working hard to represent this area this year. For the past three years we've played together as a club; we hope to do even better now that we have an affiliation with the school. — Doug Harris

Turkey Bowl

A Game of Skill and Competition

As a thrill, surprise, or defeat, this year's Turkey Bowl turned out different from what many expected. The juniors beat the seniors, The final score was 8- 6 juniors.

This year's hero, Marsha Fritz, made the first touchdown and a two point conversion. This gave the juniors their eight point win. Of course the girls had to work together as any team does to be successful. The seniors did put out a good effort, but it just wasn't enough to out play this year's juniors.

Each year the girls become more competitive and better football players. Cindi Meyers was a fast-pass throwing quarterback. Stacy Lange provided protection for her. Angie Bezy led the juniors. The competition sometimes leads to anger and tears. But by the following Monday, most of the wounds have healed and school continues.

"Homecoming weather leads to surprises. The cold weather changed the homecoming night. The girls had planned to wear fancy dresses. The weather caused them to wear their winter coats."

When the word "Homecoming" is in the air, all people at Floyd Central wonder who the queen will be. Six girls were hoping to be chosen for that position. The candidates wore coats up to the last minute. As tradition, the football players wore their uniforms, because it is a pregame ceremony.

Introductions followed. Expressions changed. Stacy Lange's expression became the happiest. A warm smile of surprise broke out on a cold night. Stacy was surprised.

The 1988 Basketball Homecoming Queen

Friday, December 18, the ceremonies for crowning the 1987 Homecoming Queen took place. Everything was in order, with the theme of "Winter Wonderland" and all the decorations set. But then came the arrival of the head coach of the Indiana Hoosiers, Bobby Knight and everything went out of control. The queen candidates were all escorted by their choice of varsity basketball players to the end of the gym. With all of the girls nervously waiting for the announcement, the queen was presented as Cindi Meyer. Cindi's night turned out to be a night she would never forget. First she was crowned the 1987 basketball Homecoming Queen, and second she had the chance to see the coach of her favorite team.

6. Debbie Wiseman is involved in yearbook Susan Bierman is on the Bagpiper staff. The two of them sure know how to make those doughnuts look good.

Susan checks with mom one last time to assure every detail is perfect.

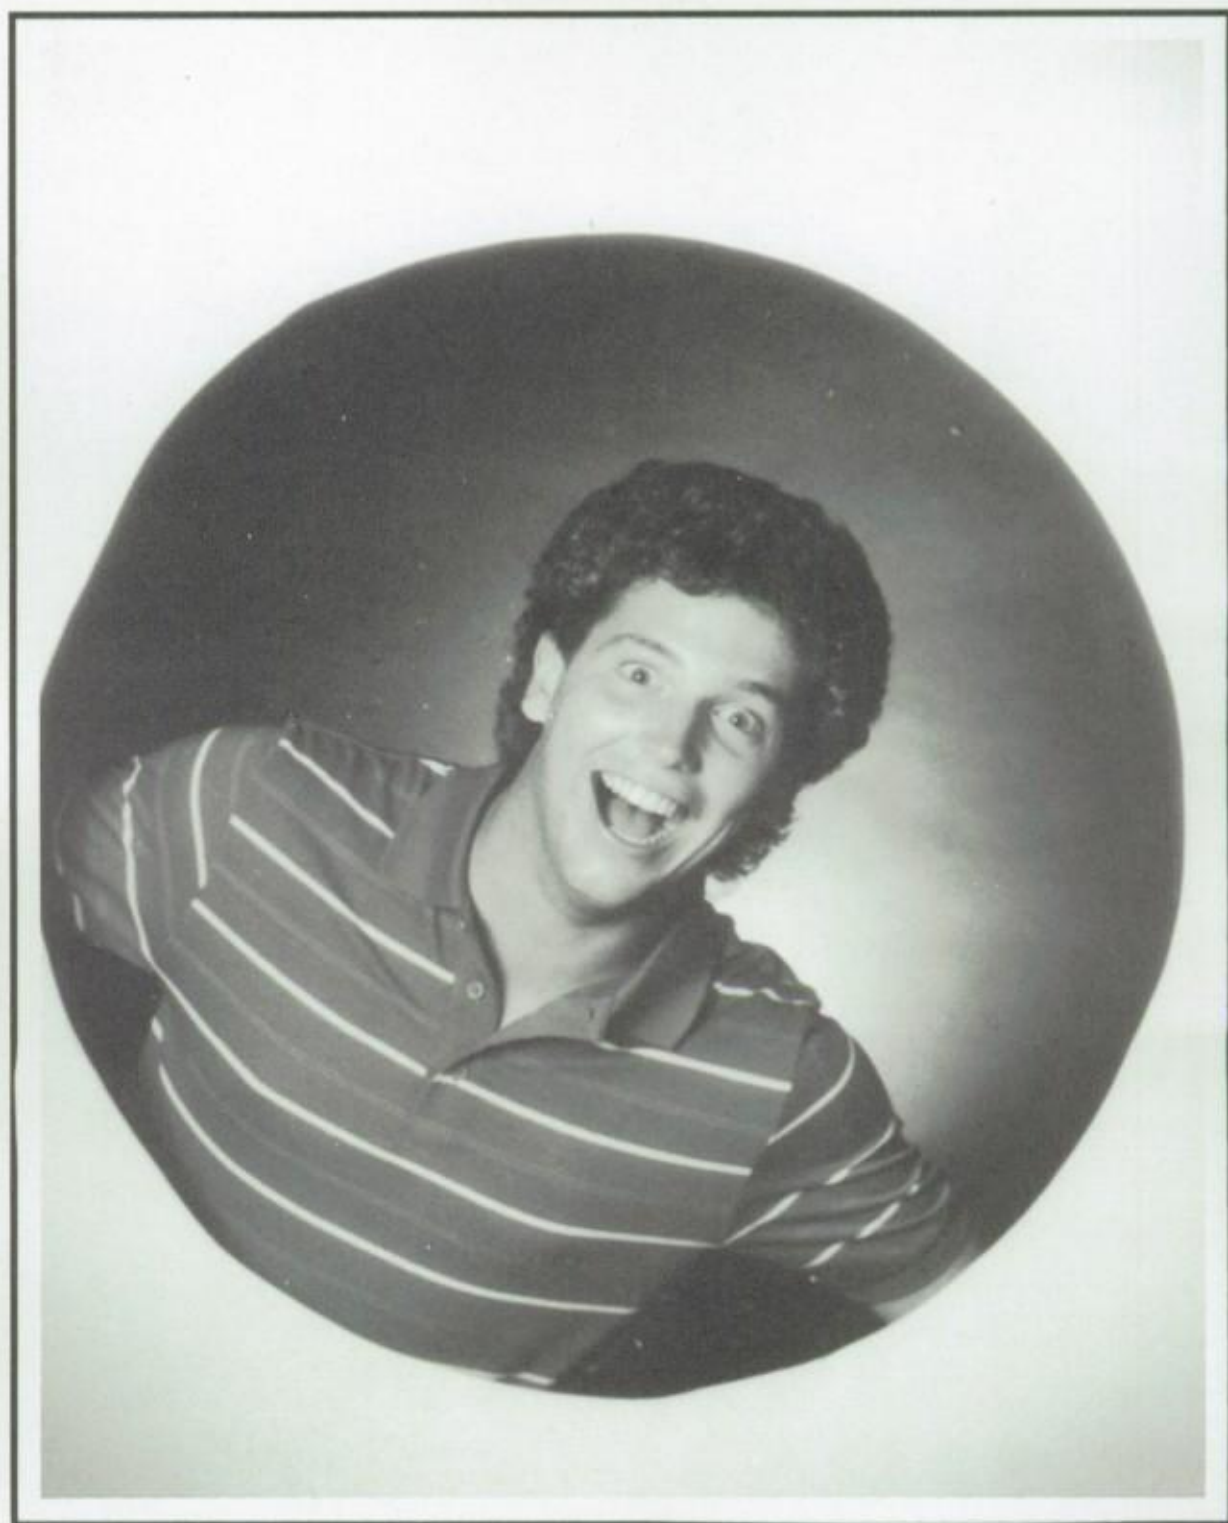

Honor students aren't always serious. Rachel gears up for a fun meal.

Becky leaves us with that impressionable smile, behind it lies great character and leadership which will be missed.

They Smiles Live On

May we all retain that zeal for life which Sammy Striegel has so often portrayed during our high school years.

The time in our lives which has seemed so far away is now reality. As we look back on our years at F.C., it is difficult to believe those times are now only memories. There are moments we would love to change and those we would love to relive a thousand times if given the chance. All of these join together to form our senior memories, wonderful, frustrating, crazy memories. However we remember, they will stay with us for a lifetime. Now it is time to pack up each experience, trial, and dream. This could not be done without remembering and appreciating the influence and love of our friends. Thank you for those wonderful senior memories. We know "a lifetime is not too long to live as friends."

Prom 88

150/Prom - Debbie Wiseman

Erin Young, Mark Adams, Mary Ann Forsythe, Derrick Roy, Michele Rawn, Julie Jacobi, Suzanne Adams, and Scott Coleman all take time to pose and show extravagant clothing.

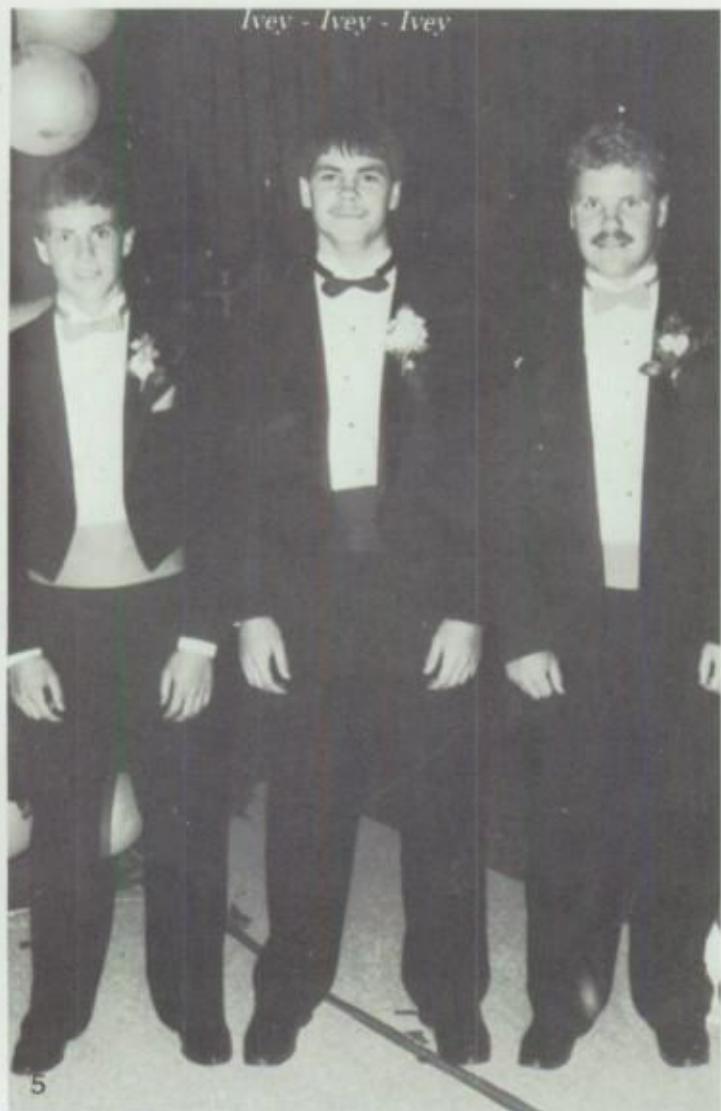

Prom 88th

Looks Like We Made it"

Every May a special event happens, the prom. Juniors and Seniors come together with their dresses and tuxedos to dance the night away. The prom is special to many but this year it had a feeling of closeness and happiness. The atmosphere gave a warm feeling, and everyone agreed; it was an excellent prom, from the decorations to the music. This year's prom was held in the Hoosier Room at IUS, the colors were black, silver, and metallic rose. The King and Queen were Rob Willman and Stacy Lange. "Looks Like We Made It" through another prom.

1. Stephanie Anders, Sammy Striegel, Michele Conrad, and Kendall Freeman take a break from dancing to discuss plans after prom.
12. Greg Wendell, and Cathy Reisert dance the night away at the F.C. prom.
3. Kellie Holobaugh and her date take advantage of the good music by dancing.
4. Stacy Lange and Rob Willman are the 1988 prom queen and king.
5. The Ivey Brother Reunion! Todd, Shawn, and Scott Ivey attended the 88 prom. This is the first time for this event.
6. Paula Merrill and Brian Ewing. There were many cute couples at the prom and Paula and Brian were one of them.
7. The guys take a break after working up a sweat.

Krista Neibert received a Commended Student Award from the National Merit Scholarships.

Mary Early - Lions Club Scholar

Eric Cox is from a family with military ties. His father and brother attended military academies. Eric will attend the Navel Academy.

Class night is one of the last nights for some friendships, but Missy Sinkhorn and Scott Henderson will be friends for a long time.

Eric Koetter

Jennifer Lewis

Debbie Phillips shares the excitement of being named Miss F.C.H.S. with her teacher, Mr. Weatherholt.

Robert Kaiser began participating and winning awards at an early age. The Mr. F.C.H.S. Award will not be his last award.

Class Night A Time For Time

Seniors enjoyed two hours of recognition for hours of study and years of work. The smoothness of the ceremony allowed many to be honored in a short period of time. Awards ranged from four year scholarships worth thousands of dollars to pins of special meaning for special seniors. This class gave much and will be remembered by the faculty and staff as a special class. They deserved this night.

B. Hardy, M. Jacobi.

F. C. brought Cheslie Kaelin, Alison Neidiffer, Carla Yeager, and Jennifer Forest a chance to taste "French" food.

F.C. brought Darin Rush recognition for his accomplishments.

F.C. Brought

F.C. gave Margie Maple and Suzanne Adams a chance to enjoy their birthdays together. Happy Birthday! Happy Birthday!

At school we have the opportunity to honor the birthdays of our teachers,

Us Here

Laura Pamplin got a once-in-a-lifetime chance to view the earth from the inside-out on the annual cave trip.

Floyd Central brought us opportunities. We have had opportunities as individuals, as couples, as groups, and as friends. As individuals F.C. brought us challenges, goals, and situations we would not have experienced. As groups we have friendships that help us in our times of trouble and shared laughs in times of fun. F.C. brought us time that will always be remembered as special.

April Bottom and Randy Lamb got to pretend they went to Mexico.

much to their embarrassment.

Boughtcha

Floyd Central students know money. They earn it, save it, need it, raise it, and spend it. These pictures show them in action.

Our advertisers were supportive of the yearbook this year, and we enjoyed working with them. Please show your support by visiting these businesses.

The 1988 prom court displays their new prom dresses which were a big expense for all the girls who attended.

Having fun doesn't have to be expensive. Playing with friends is always fun and free.

Brock Taylor and Jackie Becker rest during the Walk-a-Thon which raises money for scholarships for other Floyd Central students.

Kevin,

Well dude, it's two years after graduation and your first now getting around to having people sign it. Man, I never knew a bigger procrastinator. ^{the} Those years of youth really flew by didn't they? I hardly had time to enjoy it all, but life goes on. Remember the first time we met at Galena in 4th grade. We've stayed best of friends since. Except for a few hold backs with Dawn Lamb and religion, but hey we made it. I think the best times we had were through high school football. Things always went awesome during football season. We never had problems getting any pussy or beer, that's for sure. I'll never forget the times we had together, those were the best days of my life. Keep playing those Beatles and stay well. Good Luck in what ever comes your way, and keep in touch. Best Friends Always, Beatie Dart
